PACKAGED WITH CARE

A post office and yearbook? Question: what do they have in common? Answer: our theme.

Taking the idea of packaging and delivering, we developed our theme around this mailroom scenario. Instead of packaging letters and goods, we packaged a variety of memories: assemblies, crowded halls, strategically timed fire drills, the parking tickets students got for parking in the dirt, putting up with lunch lines, getting ready for school, fumbling for a lunch pass, cheering at a football game, playing fees at registration. Such memories we, as a staff, have carefully preserved in this yearbook that has been PACKAGED WITH CARE.

WE'RE NUMBER ONE Steve Martin, David Elliason, and the rest of the fans celebrate after the final regular season basketball game against Brophy. The game propelled us into the playoffs.

ONE HAPPY FAMILY Susan Hofnagle, Peggy Preising, Dan Walkup, and Kelly Carper hang out in the courtyard, a good place for memorable conversations.

Kaylee, Well another year has gone by and before you know it you'll be a senior & I'm glad we met and (I think) a suxy class (subject wise) but a world wise). Your such a sweetie have a GREAT SUMMER and I'll see ya around Next year

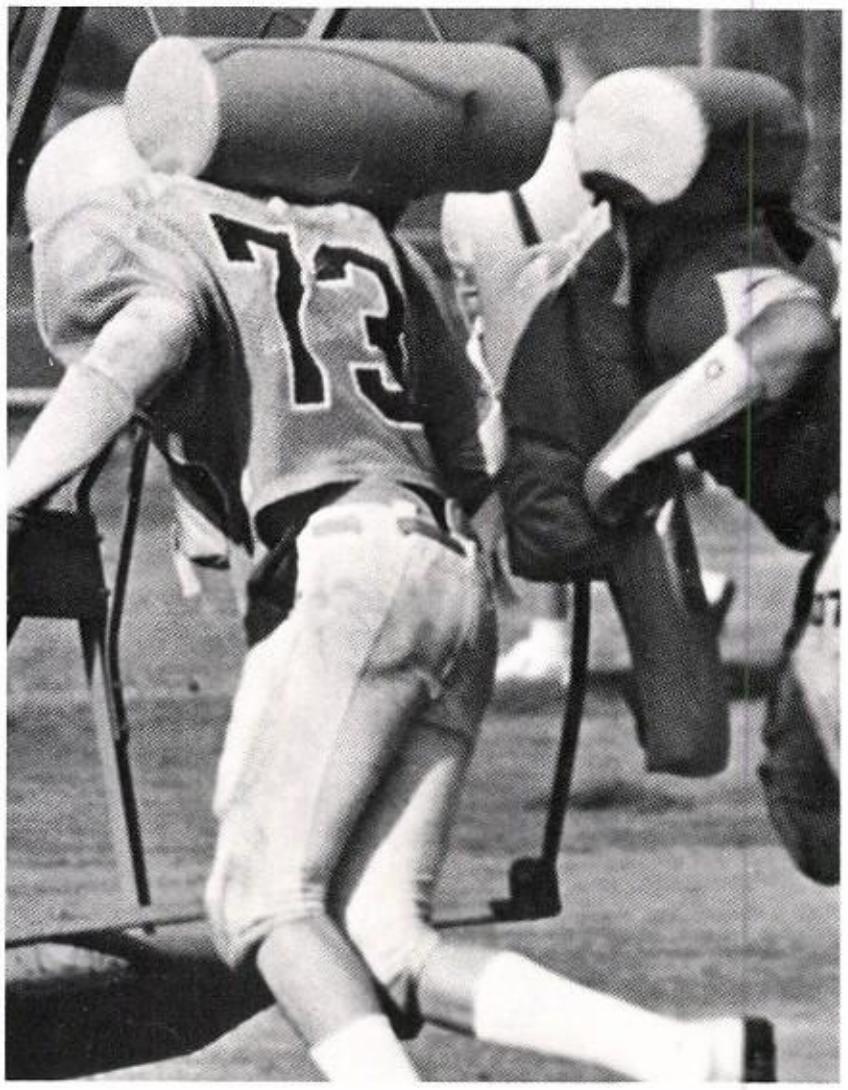
LOOK MOM, NO HANDS Senior Matt Kurowski wins the pie-eating-gum-blowing contest at a football pep assembly with a clean face; the point of the contest is to find the lost gum in a whip cream pie, then blow a bubble.

FUN RAISERS! Pommies were hard at work raising money for camp.



UMPH! Pre-season training was rough on the bodies for all football players.

STICK EM UP! Pommies enjoyed shaving cream fights in their spare time at camp.

Training on Vacation

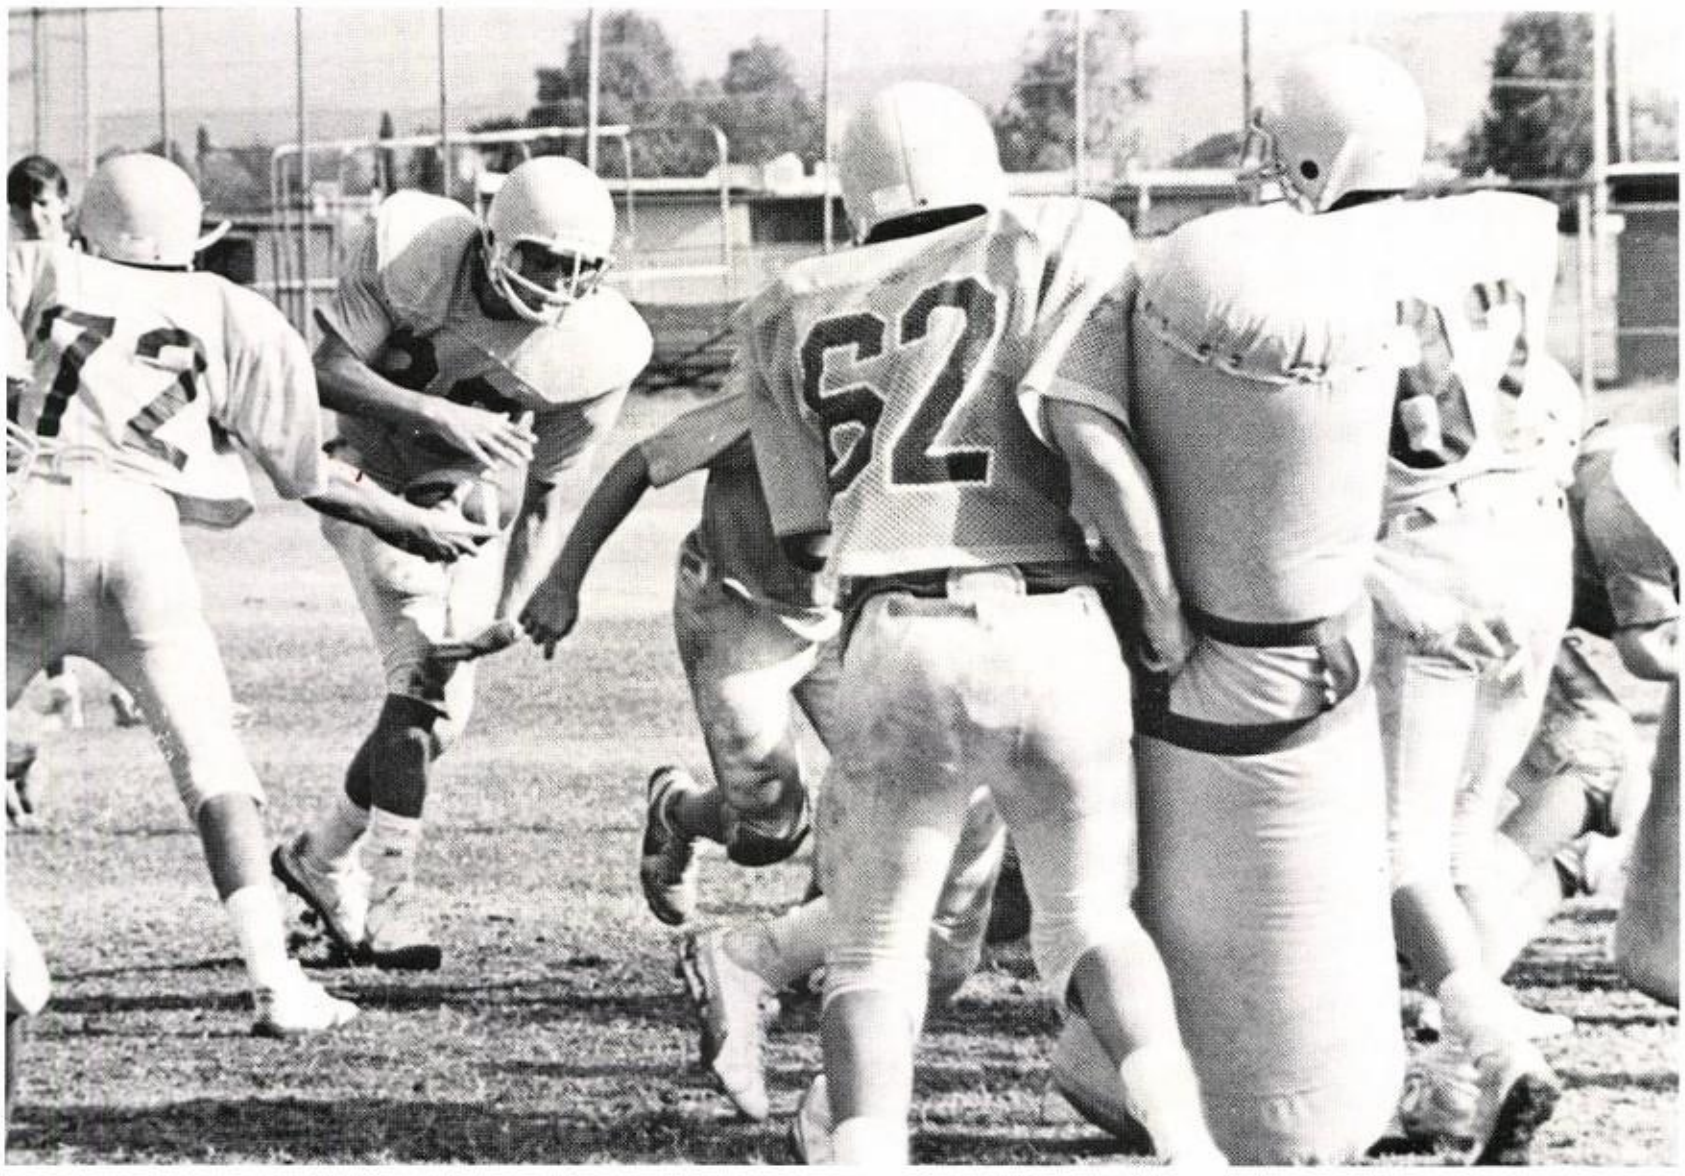
PUT ON A HAPPY FACE! Dawn Marsillo and Christy Valesh celebrate the victory at pom camp.

Dancing under cool pines the Horizon pom line enjoyed four long days of "so called" peace and quiet. The pommies went to the campus of Northern Arizona University for pom camp. The activities ranged from award winning dances to shaving cream fights in the halls. Junior, Jennifer Payne said-,"camp was a great experience, we got to know each other better."

On the other side of life, the Horizon football team was becoming well acquanted with the ever most popular sleds!

The hard work seemed to never end for them. Pre-season didn't discourage many players even through all the rough times. Curt Schuster said, "I liked seeing the effort from everyone throughout the season."

GO AHEAD MAKE MY DAY! Dave Friedman prepares for a collision with Billy Butt.

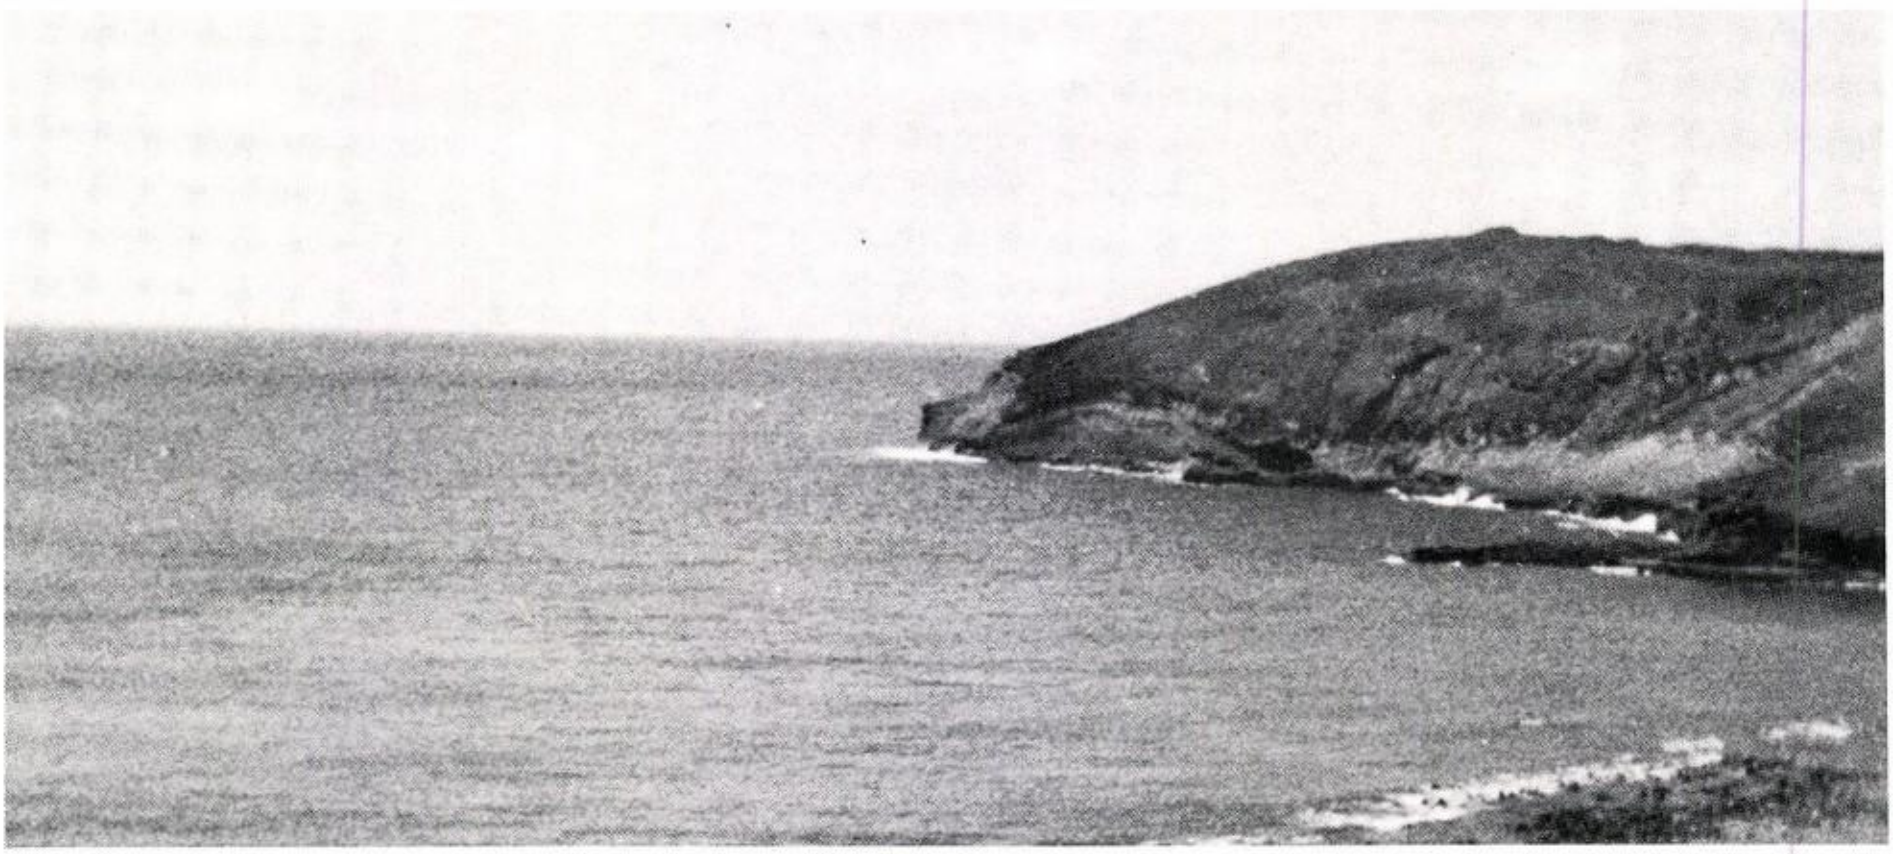


Bon Voyage

JUNE 6, 1986, 28 minutes, 32 seconds and counting. Thoughts of summer fun flooded the minds of students. The long awaited day had finally arrived and excitement filled the air. Staying out late, sleeping in, and going away to have some fun were all that the students could think of. 3 . . . 2 . . . 1 . . . Ding! Ding! Ding!

Vacation time had arrived. Some kids left to the beaches while others explored new lands. Senior Brian Goaziou, for instance, travelled to Germany and Sweden with his soccer team. They played against foreign teams as well as enjoyed the scenery of their visit. On the other side of the globe, Debbie Wing sizzled in the sun on the sands of Hawaii. She summed up her vacation by exclaiming, "It was so much fun!" However, others chose to escape from the sun into a cooler climate, such as sophomore Susy Barnett who ventured to Vancouver, Canada for the Expo 86 where the World's Fair was held.

Some travelled afar, while others stayed close by in our neighboring country, Mexico. Senior Jason Fritz, along with other Horizon students, went with his church on a trip to serve the people in Mexico. He shared his experience and said, "I learned a lot about other people and their culture."



THE SHORES OF HAWAII Crystal blue water washes on the beaches of Oahu, where Debie Wing enjoyed a part of her summer vacation.

ARE YOU COMING? Susy Barnett strolls through Buchard Gardens in Victoria, Candada

Rise-N-Shine

Get up, get dressed, and get to school were the thoughts running through students' heads as they turned off their alarm clocks and rolled out of bed to begin a new day. The day usually began by hitting the snooze button on the alarm clock 2 or 3 times before actually getting up and starting the daily routine. First, into the bathroom for a nice refreshing and eye opening shower. Then it was time to perhaps mousse and gel the hair or just comb it to get the perfect style. Girls then went on to applying some make-up while the boys splashed on the aftershave. After contemplating the wardrobe possibilities, a decision had to be made on what to wear for it was time to grab a quick bite to eat. It's almost time to rush out the door to catch a ride to school. Another day will soon begin at Horizon High School.

PORKIN OUT Lauren McDougal, Suanne Hoye, and Deanna Lowther enjoy a big breakfast.

HOP ON Students await to get on the bus for their transportational needs.

SNOOZIN Cristen Creighton cuddles with her teddy bear to catch up on lost sleep. It was difficult to get up early for school.

LATE AGAIN Wishing for more time Kristen Huber rushes to get everything done.

hi Kacee, its me again Lol. <3 Todd. Boy I hope he doesn't see this page. Lol.

Ways of Getting to School!

Bus, scooter, car, bike, feet? All were used to get to school, but perhaps the one we associated most with school transportation was the bus. "It's hard to make it on time before it leaves," replied Kim Sussary. Other students could relate. Whether it was because of sleeping too late or eating too long, some mornings were a bit rushed in order to meet the big yellow car.

Seniors who had cars didn't have to worry about meeting a bus. In fact, they were given their own parking spaces in their own parking lot. Others were not as fortunate, and at the beginning of the year, a parking space was hard to come by. Dr. Gleason allowed the student body to park in the dirt lot across the street until problems occurred and the Phoenix police took the lot away.

Parking was then worse than ever. Finally, after negotiating with the police, Dr. Gleason got the dirt lot back—with a few stipulations. The lot was lined and posted with signs directing the flow of traffic. This definately helped.

Better yet, a new black topped parking lot was built behind the school.And thus, another traffic nightmare was over.

NEW TIMES, NEW SIGNS The police dept. originally closed the dirt lot, then reopened it, under certain restrictions.

MY OWN SPACE Katy Daly (senior) gets ready to leave the senior parking lot.

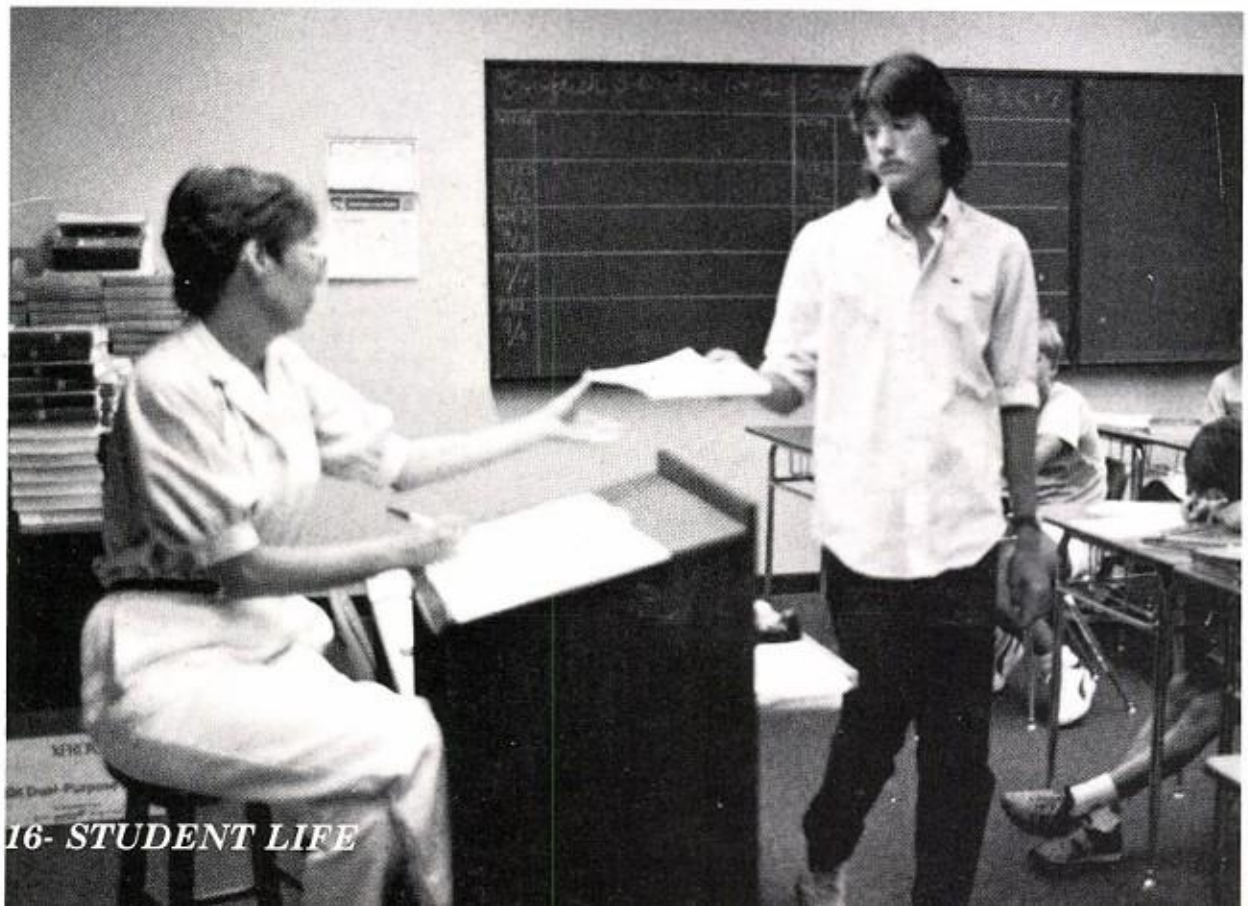
NEW STUDENT LOT New parking lot goes up in the back for students.

SCOOTARAMA The scooter population increases, every year with students.

SAY CHEESE! Kathy Kapell and Kristi Hendricks have the tables turned on them while taking I.D. pictures.

JUST SIGN YOUR JOHN HANCOCK Mr. Rickard signs schedules during class.

NAME PLEASE Mrs. Read signs Eric Zepnewski in on the first day of school.



And They're Off!

Every student must go through the first day of school blues, but in high school, students have to go through registration blues weeks before school even starts.

Registration is the time during the summer when juniors and seniors go to pay their book fees. Sophomores and freshmen go to get their I.D. pictures taken. Registration is also the time to change or add any classes before the year actually starts. Then, weeks go by, and it's . . .

The first day of school! To returning students it's just another day of "first day routine": stand in lines, get your schedule, talk to friends, and go to class. But to new incoming students it's a day of confusion: Stand in line. "What? You mean I'm in the wrong line?!" Get your schedule. Hey, I didn't sign up for advanced Chemistry!" Talk to friends. "What friends? They're lost!" Go to class. "C107? Oh no, that's Mr. Mattson's room! Help! I've heard about him!

As the two-o'clock bell rang and the freshmen finally found their classes, the first day of school was over!

YOU WANT TO CHANGE FOODS TO UNDERWATER BASKET WEAVING? Mrs. Rolando helps students with Drop/Ads.

LETS SEE . . . EASTWOOD? NO! LOWE?Mr. Paul helps seniors and their schedules.

Six Minute Dash

Yield? Not a chance! During the year, the students of Horizon students had six minutes to dash from one class to another. Kids tried to cram as much socializing time in as they could. Familiar scenes of crowded halls, bathrooms and stairways were all part of the day- to- day routine. The place of escape seemed to be outside, but the only problem was getting there.

The courtyard was considered "the place of freedom," but not to the underclassmen. They swarmed the lockerbays, attempting to uncover the correct book they needed for the following class. Many times students could be heard yelling goodbyes while running through the halls to class. Then after 50 minutes, it began all over again.

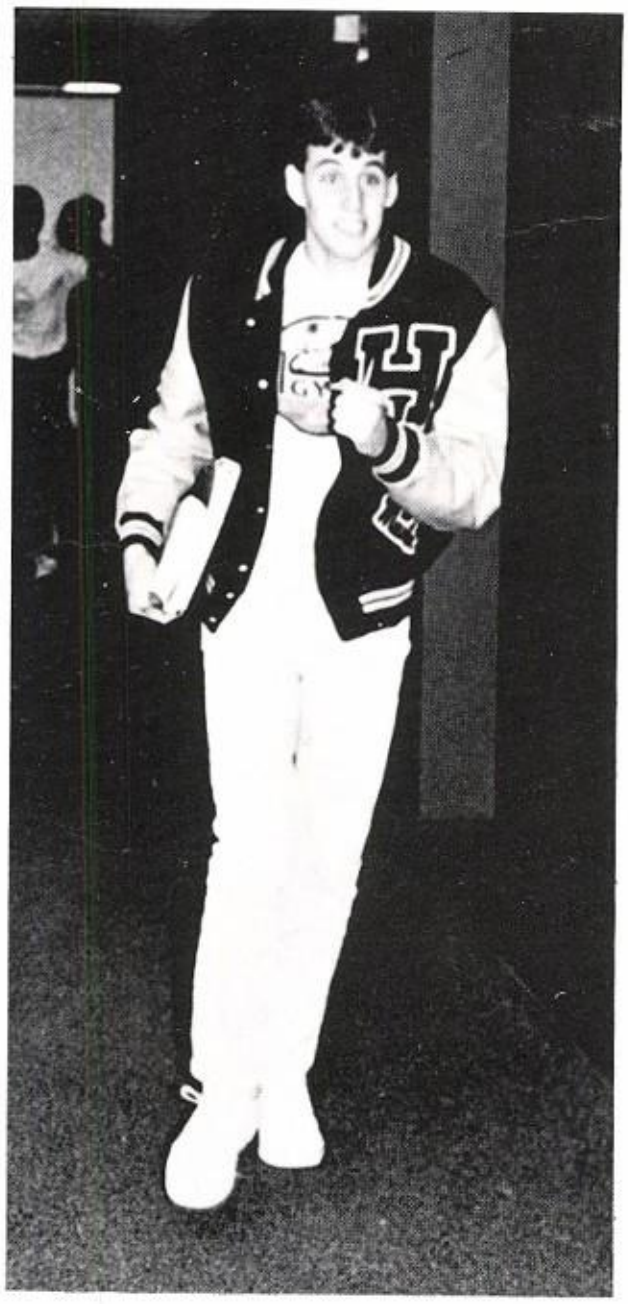
WHAT A CROWD! Horizon students gather in the court yard.

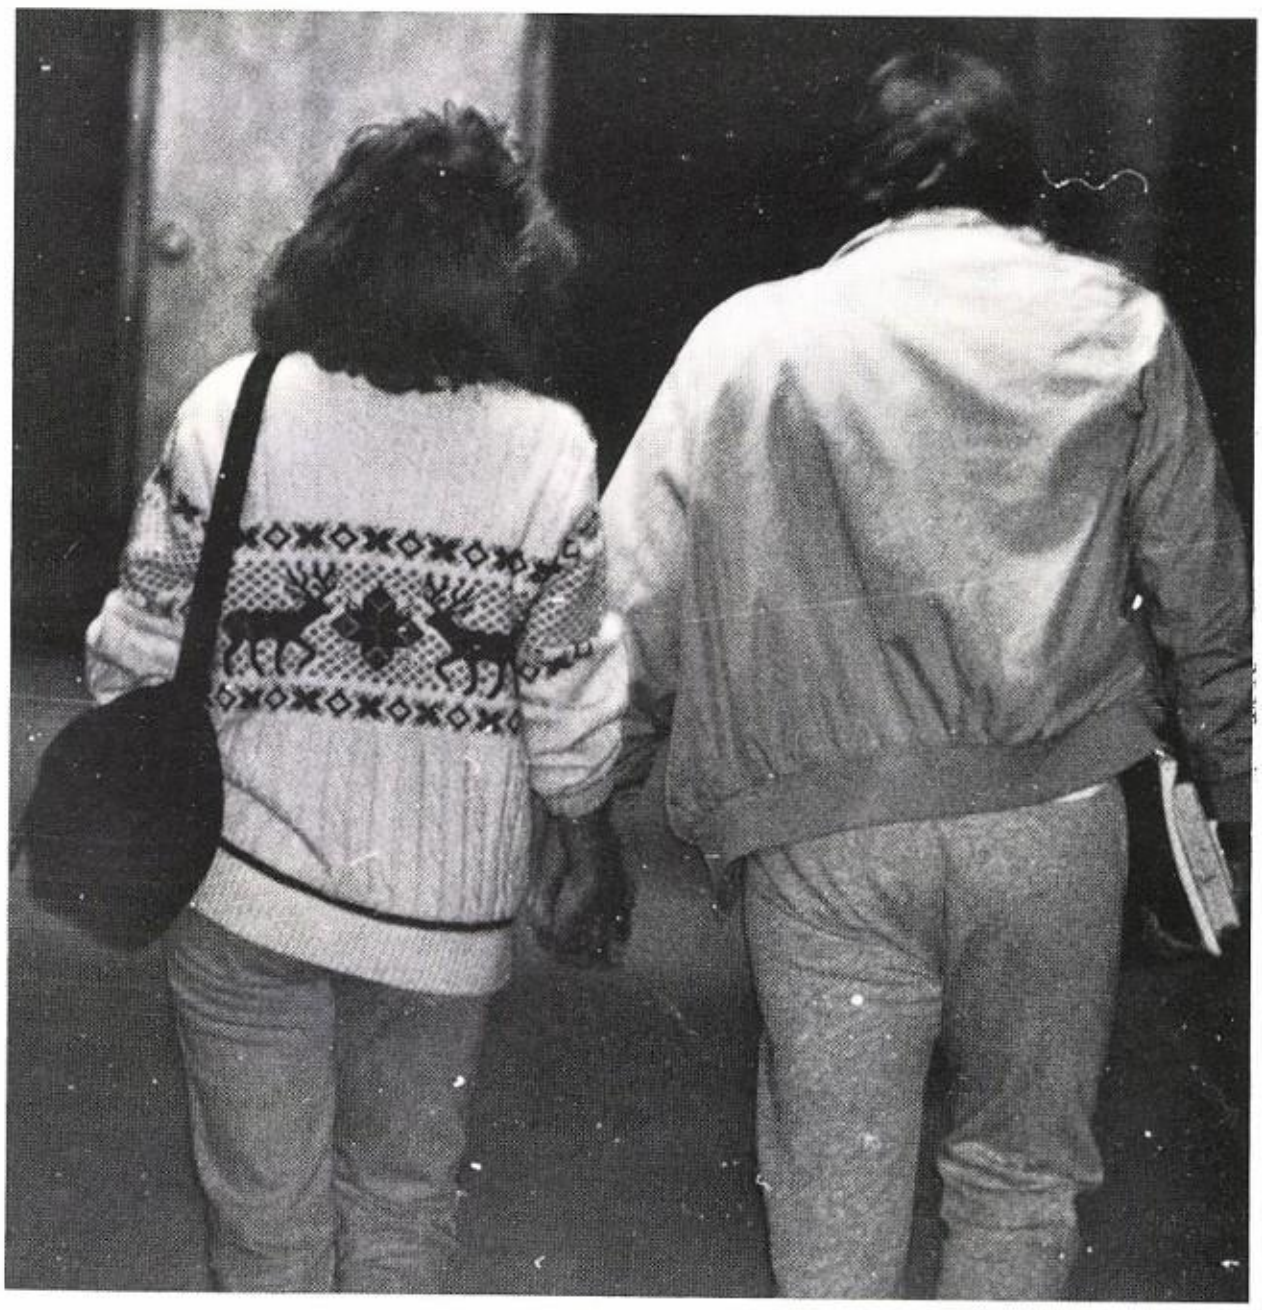
ARE YOU KIDDING ME? Ingrid Vanommeren talks over some daily news with her good friends Tracy Vogal, and Dawn Dujanovic.

COMIN' THROUGH Students race down the stairs as the bell rings for class dismissal.

THE FINAL STRETCH! Mark Cunningham races to class with only seconds to spare.

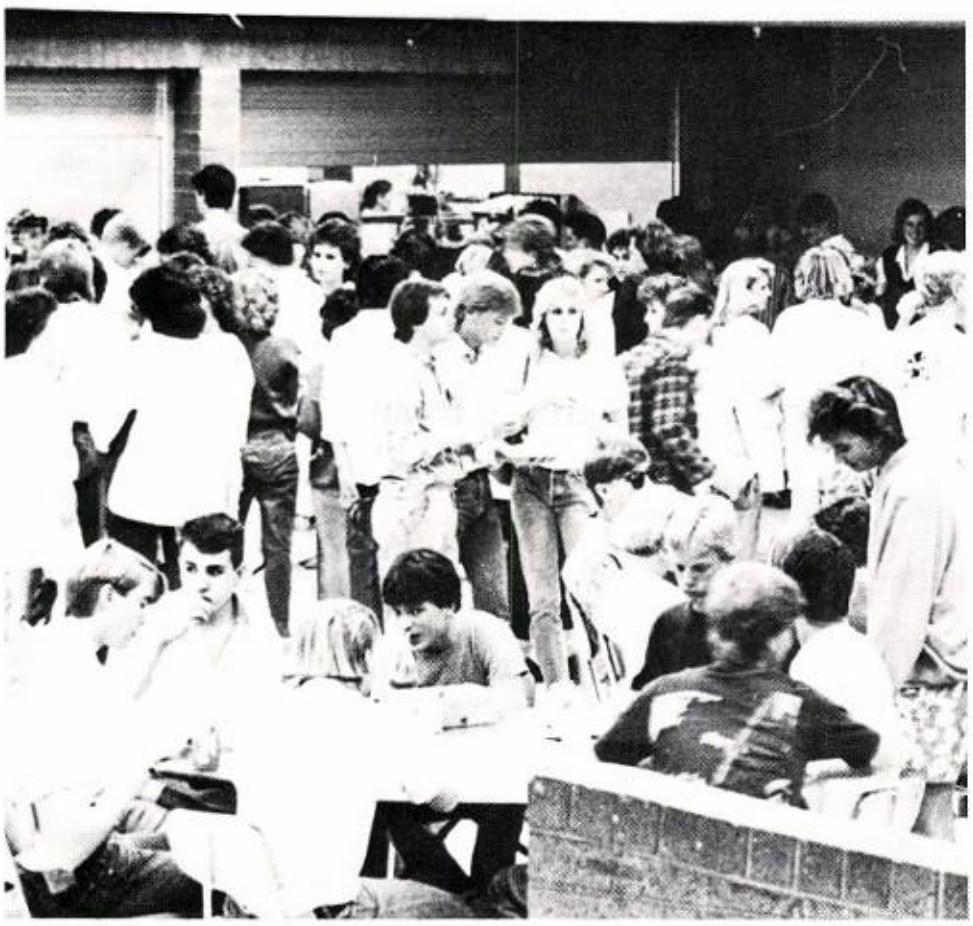
AHH, ISN'T THAT SWEET! In between classes Brandi Brown and Roger Wenz could be seen strolling hand in hand.





HERE THEY COME An employee of the Great Hot Dog Experience prepares for the lunch rush.

A CHOICE. Seniors and juniors could choose to stay on campus and eat at the cafeteria or leave.



LET'S GO. Ed Caron and Kim Saccuci get in their car to go to lunch.

Lunchtime: What a Relief!

With sweat on his brow and a moist upper lip the underclassman sprinted down the hall and hid behind a stone pillar. He then jogged the final distance to his car; he was safe, for now and off to lunch.

With a long, collected stride the upperclassman casually walked to his car, not worrying about he will get back on campus. He too was off to lunch.

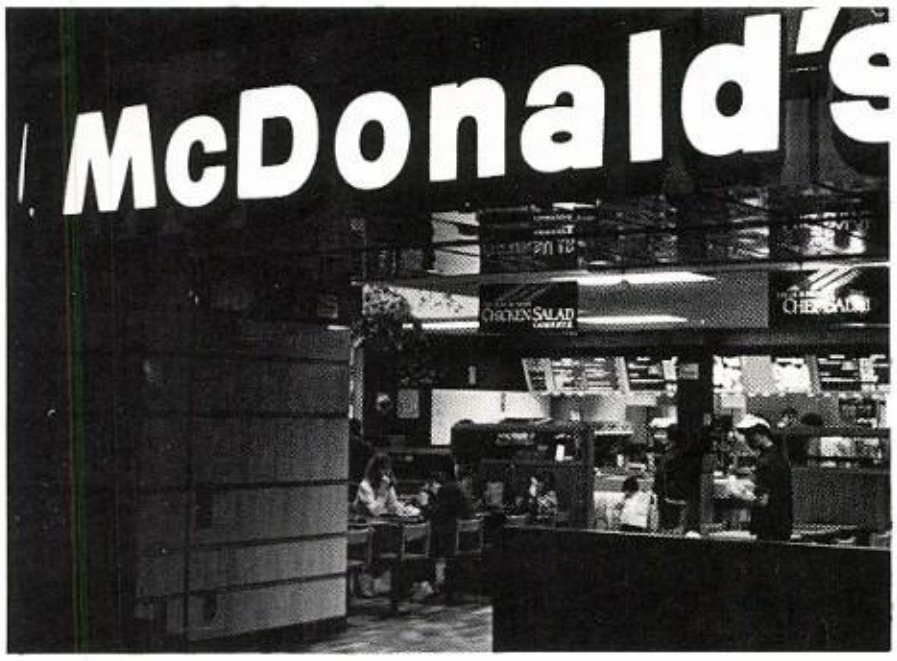
Although the upperclass students could go out, the underclass students had to stay on campus. Sophomore Davis Aston wishes he could go out "because when you have friends that are old enough to go out you seem to lose contact with those friends."

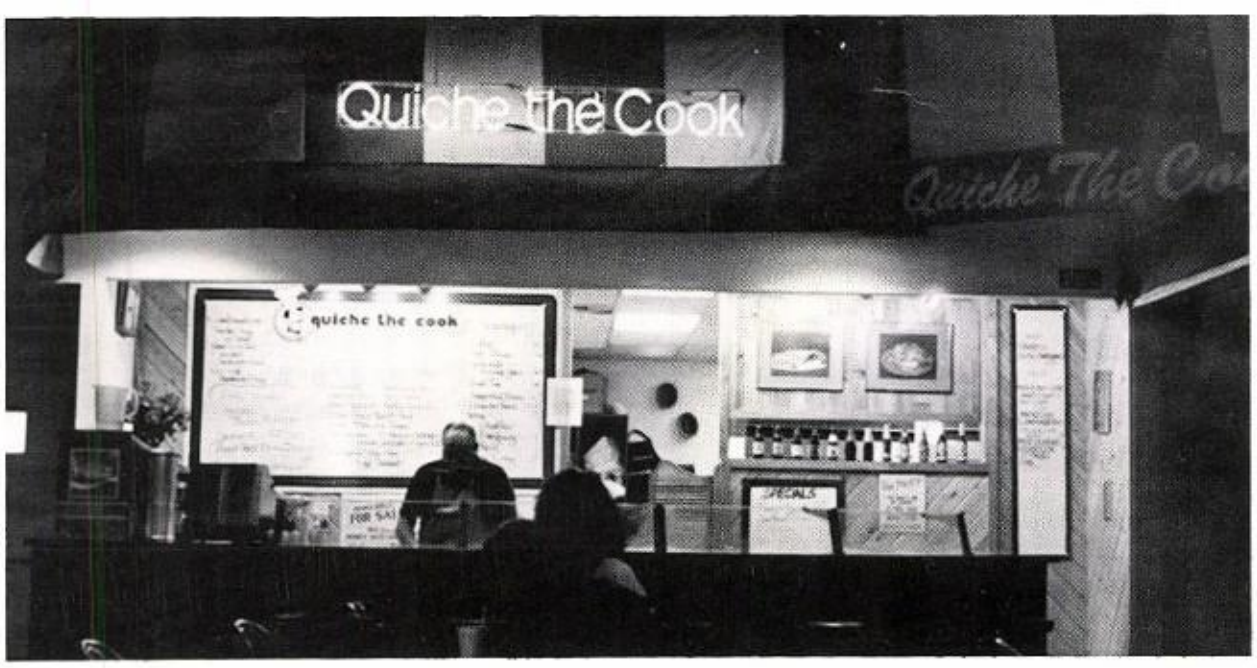
Many students enjoyed going off for lunch. Juniors Kristen Huber and Jennifer Heintzelman liked to leave to "have more fun by getting a break from school."

Students liked "to go to different places for more variety" according to Junior Andy Price. And that, students could get. Within a four mile distance, students could go to the Paradise Valley mall to eat at McDonalds, Chick-Fil-A, Great Gyros, or Cafe' Mexico, not to mention Casa De A'more.

Other near-by favorites were Peter Piper Pizza, Liberty Bell Pizza, Burger King, and Italian Gardens.

Parked now, the underclassman slides out of his car and glances right and left. He slams his car door shut and walks past the tennis courts, into the dirt, behind the portable, just then he hears "hey, you there, stop!" He freezes. As he is having his rights read, the upperclassman walks by, laughing with the pleasure of freedom.





THE FAVORITE McDonald's seems to be the pick of most students.

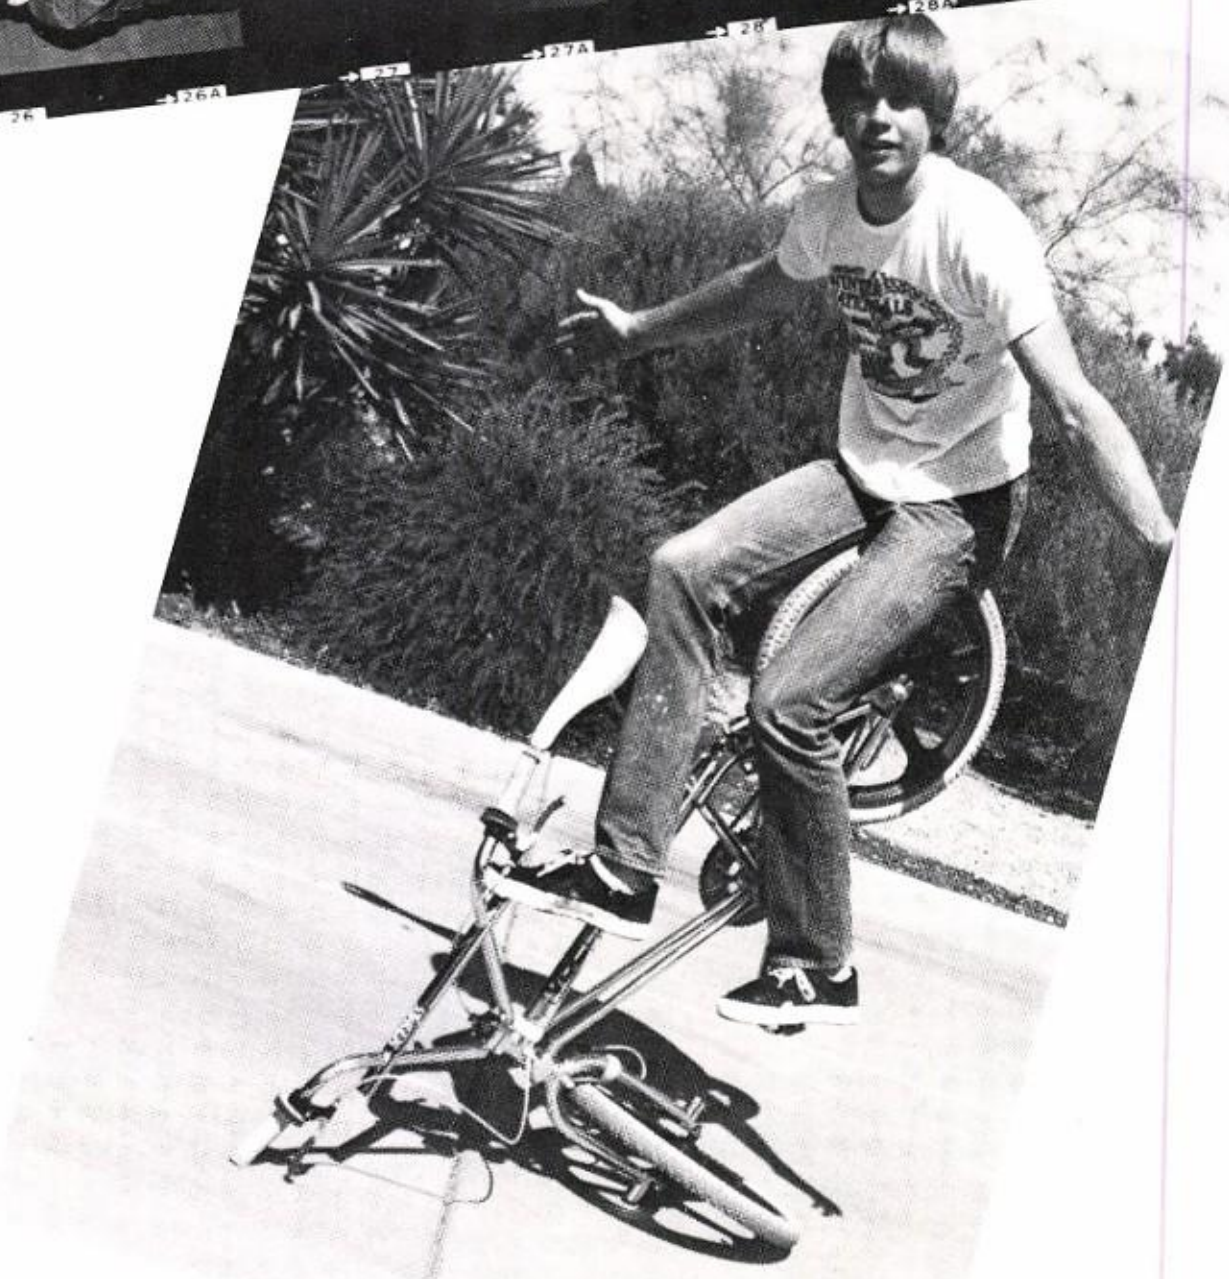
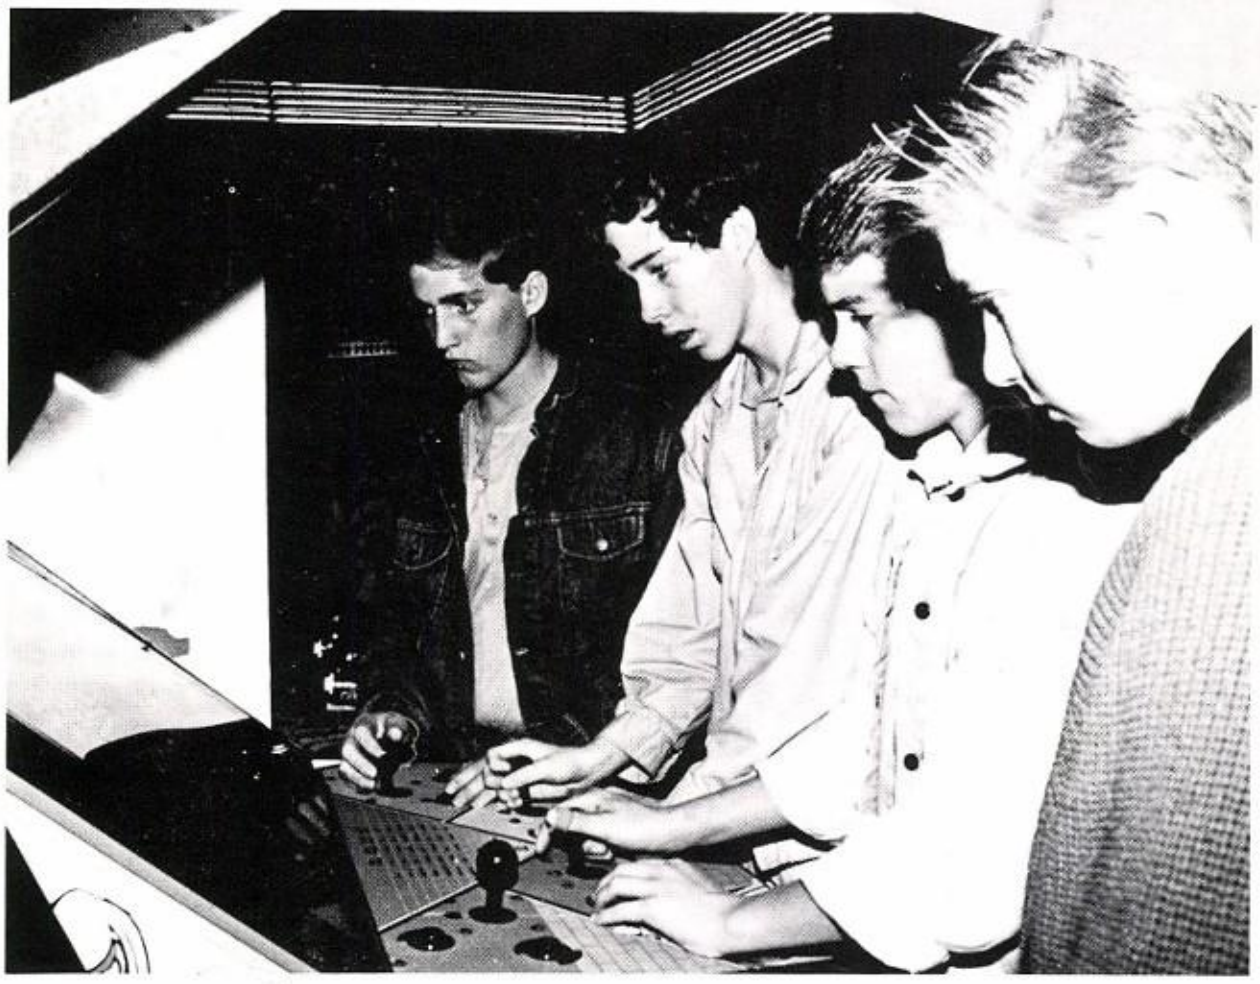
BREAK FOR LUNCH Students had only around an hour to rush to their cars, go out to eat, return and get to their lockers and then get to class on time.





MOM, MAY I HAVE A RIDE HOME? Students used the pay phone to get rides home after school.

ZOWEE. Brian Smyth challenges the law of gravity with while riding his bike.

HELP! WE'RE VIDEOIZED Students practice hand-eye coordination while playing the videos.

TALK TO ME Kelly Harris settles down to watch Oprah in the afternoon.

After School Favorites

The end of the day, and every student anxiously watches the clock as thoughts of after school events rush to their minds—skating, sleeping, eating, working, biking, watching television, or playing video games.

The most common after school event was probably watching television. When asked his favorite after school show, Mike Lemon replied, "Brady Bunch." Of course, others prefer more thought stimulating shows such as Smurfs, Tom and Jerry, Transformers, or G.I. Joe.

Well, whatever they do, wherever they go, whomever they see, most students seem to enjoy and look forward to spending their free time after school.

Working For Money

COLLEGE, CARS, CLOTHES . . . These were some of the reasons why students had jobs. There were all different kinds of job opportunities for teenagers, such as waitressing, server's assistant technician (bussing), and sales clerk. Most jobs paid minimum wage or more, and paid every 2 weeks. Many students felt as though having a job was a challenge."Having a job made me more responsible and getting along with people was easier," said senior Laura Berwald.

However, there were the disadvantages of having a job. Many students felt as though having a job deprived them from extra time spent with family, friends, and doing there school work. "Although I make a considerable amount of money on the weekends, I like to take one day per weekend to spend time with my friends," said senior Kirk Klepfer. Even though there disadvantages, students continued working as a basic means of earning extra cash.

Livin' It Up

Friday . . . 1:59. Students anxiously waited for the two o'clock bell to ring for it signaled freedom and the weekend.Throwing their books in the lockers, Horizon students raced off campus to get home and make their weekend plans.

While some had to work, other got the chance to enjoy such activities as getting caught up on sleep, dancing, and dating. "I like the weekends to relax, get a little bit of excitement and to not have to think about my grades," said Reigan Borst.

Sgt. Pepper's was a popular teen nightclub to go dancing on Saturday nights, while Bobby McGees was a good place for an entertaining dinner. Movies were another form of entertainment, and the Paradise Valley Mall was still a popular place for shopping, eating, and having a good time.

Sunday . . . night. Students were found chatting on the phone about their weekends and rushing to get their homework done that they had been trying to forget for two days.

IT'S SHOWTIME. Jason Fritz and friends enjoy a movie at local theater.

SNOW! Perhaps Phoenix is in a desert, but there is snow up north, and students such as senior Kevin Geary went there to ski on winter weekends.

MELTING IN THE SUN. John Wagner spends some time kicking back and catching some rays—a nice way to spend a weekend.

Celebrate good times! Good times were everywhere, just like the fireworks in New York on the July Fourth celebration of Lady Liberty's one hundredth birthday. Hundreds of ships crowded the harbor as the party continued late into the night.

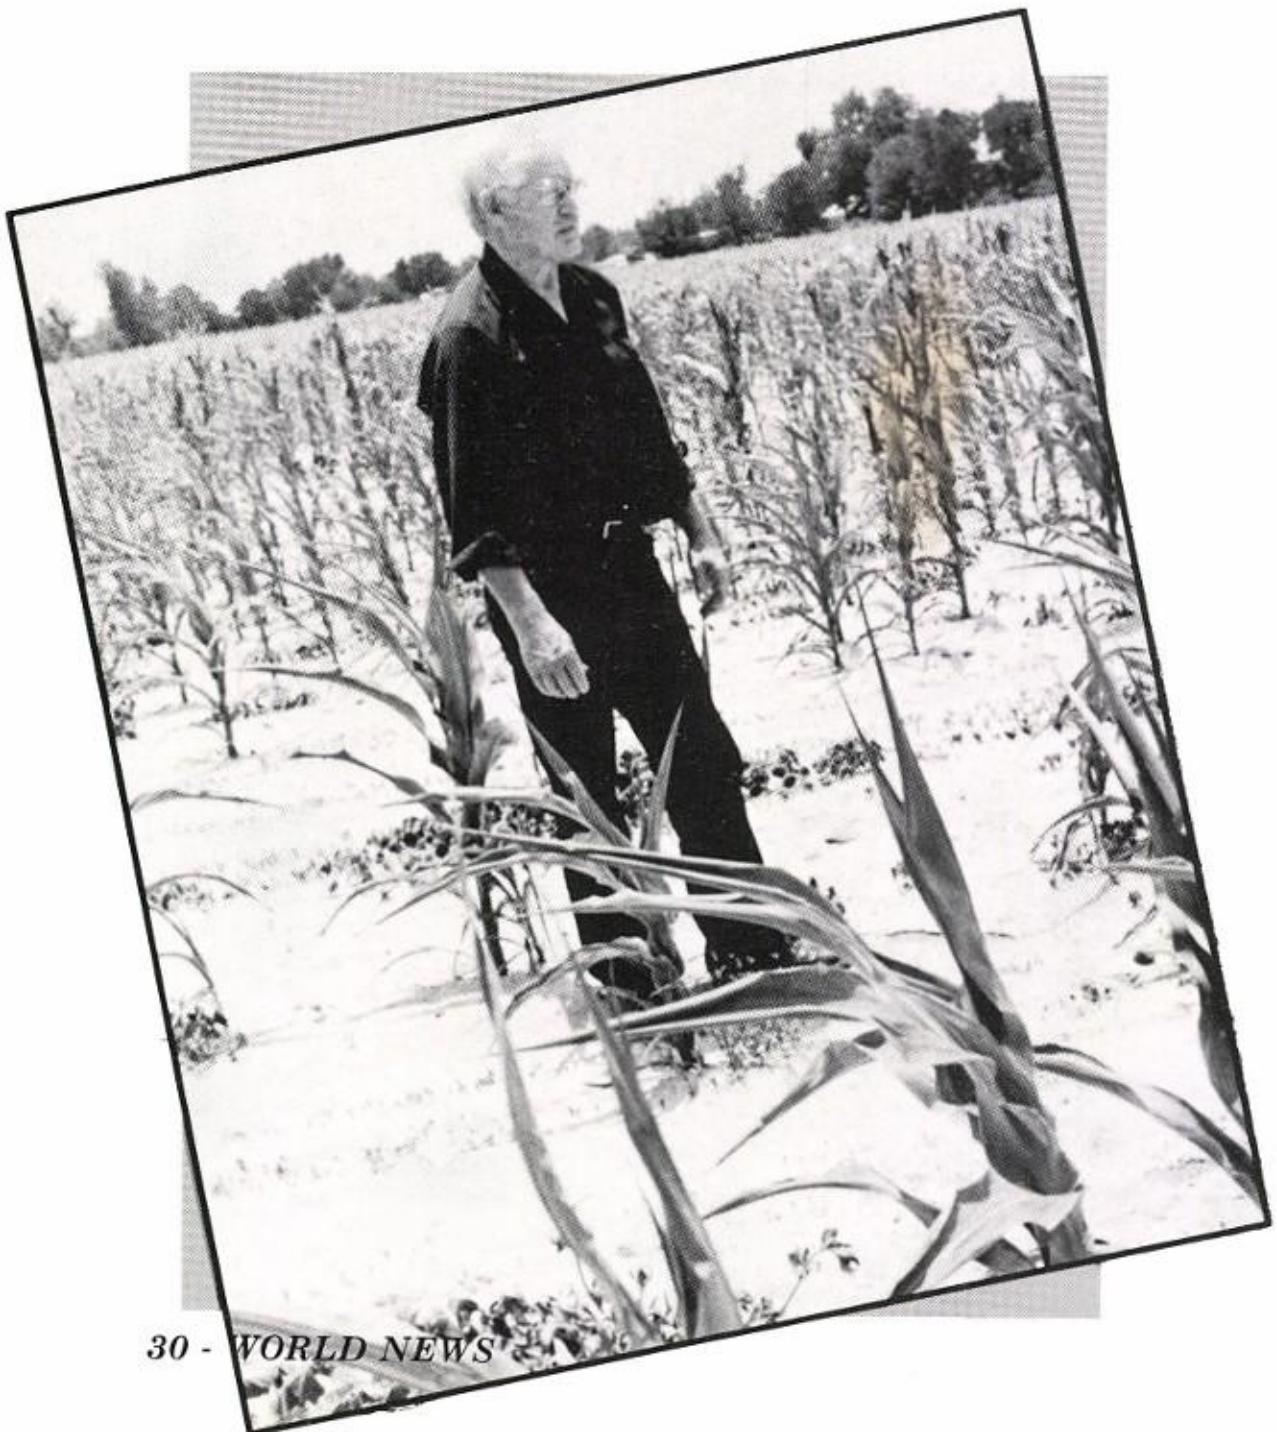
Journalist Held as Spy

American journalist Nicholas Daniloff was arrested on the streets of Moscow and was accused of spying on the Soviet Union. Also arrested and charged with spying was Gennadiy Zakharov. Zakharov, a Soviet U.N. employee, was arrested in the New York City subway. Both men were released shortly after, with the super-power summit meeting in Iceland ensuing.

FALSE ACCUSATION. Journalist Nicholas Daniloff was arrested and accused of being a spy by the Soviet Union.



Drought Drains South

During 1986, a major drought spread across the Southeast. The Carolines, Georgia, Tennessee, and Virginia were swept with disaster as the dry spell ruined crops all around. Even after a brief rain, the states were still in danger of a major catastrophe. This was recorded as the worst dry spell to affect the country. Farmers could not produce goods so trading came to an abrupt halt. Crops were starved and destroyed as a result of the lack of rain. Some months later, thundershowers quenched the thirst of the dying crops and prevented one of the worst disasters ever.

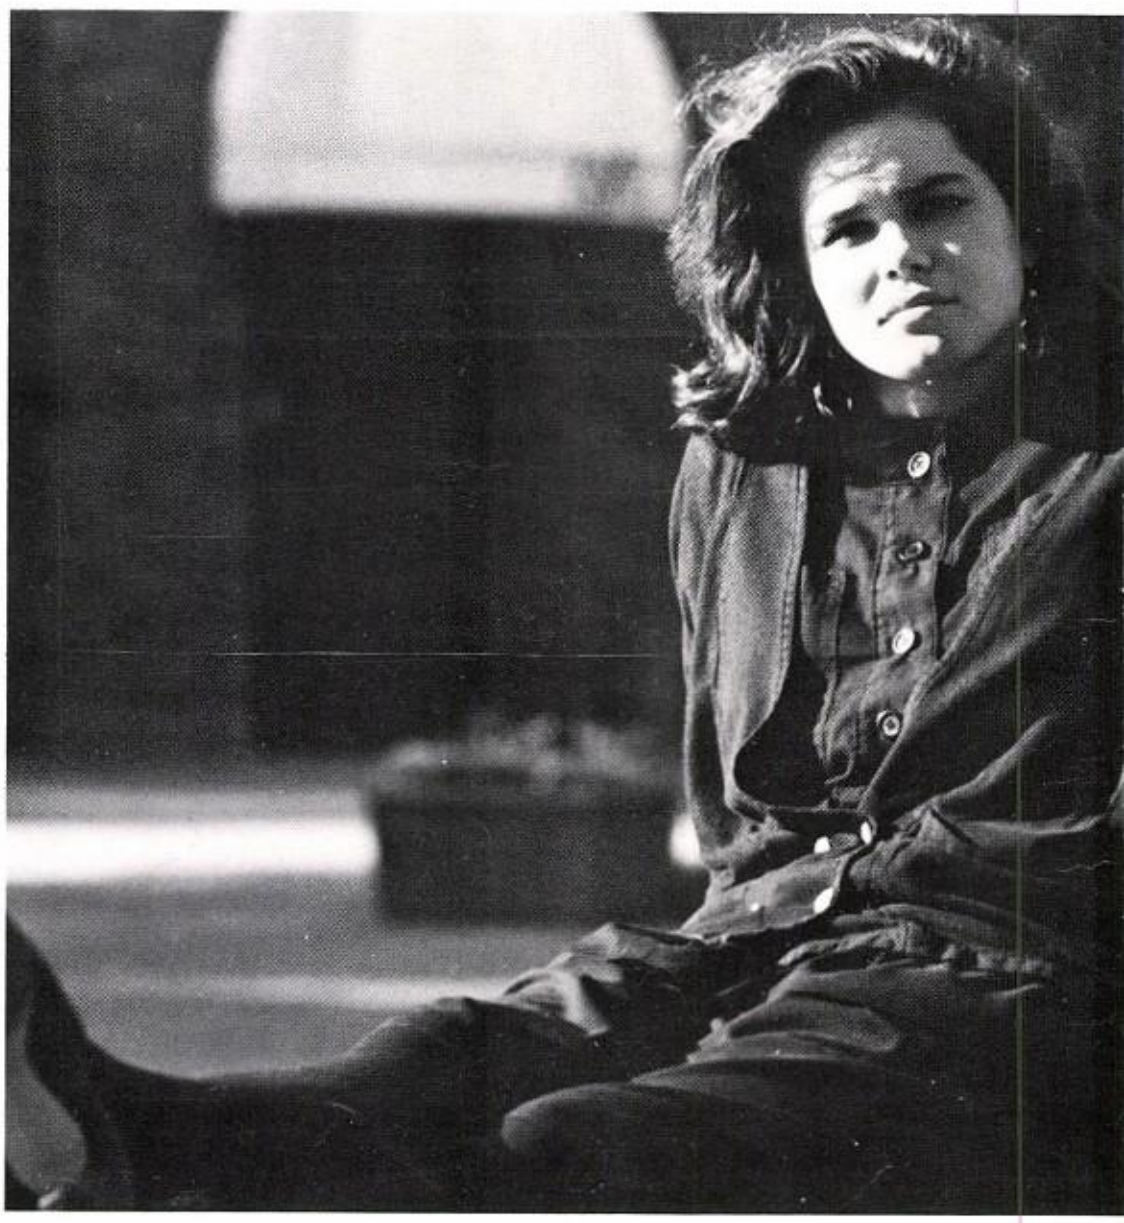
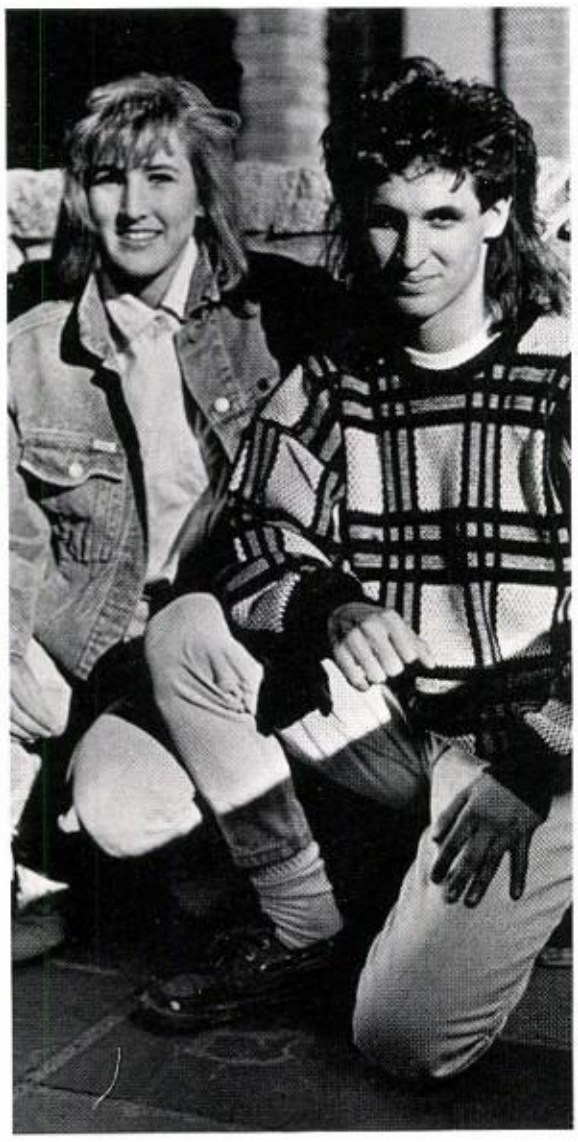
Dressed for Success

Style, once again was a major part of everyday life at Horizon. Fashion was interpreted in many ways and forms. Various styles were sported, from the classic and timeless preppy and yuppie look to borderline"vogue" and everything in between. Shown here are a few examples of casual sportiness: some looks and trends of Horizon.





John Wagoner and Tisha Loeper relax at a cafe at the fashion-conscious Borgata in Scottsdale.

Amy McGraw and Arty Kline wear the classic look of faded denim.

Kauri Greene wears a more dramatic look, including a silky shirt and headband.

Kelli Short and Jay Wolpe show a casual yet sophisticated look.

Tisha Loeper makes a statement in an all black cardigan, shirt, skirt, and leggings.

John Wagoner sports the GQ look consisting of an Oxford and casual pants as Amy McGraw dons the popular Guess look.

FIFTIES FRIENDS. Lindsey Glogosh, MaryAnn Mistretta, and Allison Bertelli pose together on Grease day.

HOW LOW CAN YOU GO? Students await the start of the limbo contest on Club Paradise day.

Tinsle Town?!

It was a typical day at Horizon High: girls wearing poodle skirts, guys with their hair slicked back . . . But wait — it's the '80s, not the '50s! What is this, a trip to the Twilight Zone? No, just Horizon Goes to Hollywood.

Spirit week with this Hollywood theme started on November 10 with Grease day. On Tuesday, student council graciously gave the entire student body the day off to go along with Ferris Beuller's Day Off. Wednesday celebrated Club Paradise with the selling of non-alcoholic Daqueris. It also celebrated the return of the tourist. Thursday, students were confused as to what school they were at. NAU, ASU, and other college sweatshirts were worn to go along with Animal House day. Last but not least, Friday was Fast Times at Horizon day with students decked out in their best green and gold attire.

The coup de grace of spirit week was the royalty assembly. Drum roll please . . . Attendants: Kari Perlman and Blake McKee, Cathy Saragosa and John Shaw, Dawn Marsillo and Jim Rizzo, Kirsten Krause and Brian Hampton,and finally the 1986-87 King and Queen: John Pepe and Shawn Schaffer.

DA DA DAH, IMPERIAL! Royalty king, queen and attendants stand on stage to accept their winning nominations during the homecoming assembly.

U OF A? Lara lummus wears a University of Arizona shirt to add to the college day atmosphere.

TOGA! TOGA! Kevin Godber and Mike Speedy get into Animal House day.

Going Hollywood!

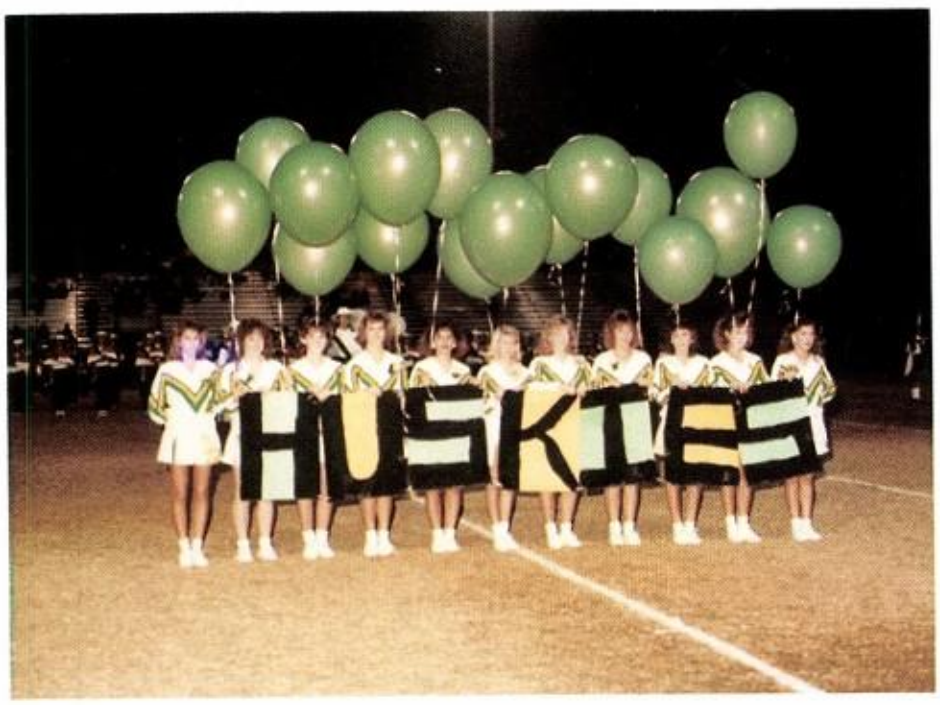
Homecoming '86 was a success. The annual parade started at 3:30 Friday afternoon. Despite flying rumors of the senior float's being hooked on light poles, it came through and, in fact, won first place. Coming in second and third places were the juniors and sophomores respectively, with the frosh coming in fourth. That night the Huskies fought a tough game but fell short to Corona.

SOPHMORBID! The class of eighty-nine takes a different approach to their float and winds up third in the competition.

BY MEMBERSHIP ONLY. The junior float's club comes in second.

TAKE A DAY OFF. The freshmen have a relaxed attitude toward homecoming.

SENIORS ON A ROLE! The class of '87 wins the float competition for two years in a row.



GREEN AND GOLD. The cheerleaders show their spirit at the homecoming game.

Future Dreams

Shea Scott. Play pro basketball for the LA Lakers and become a successful businessman.

Kristen Schuster. To be a successful entertainer, to live up in the mountains in a cabin by a lake, drinking hot cocoa by the fire with my hubby.

Curt Schuster. Play pro football.

Kelly Short. Go to college and become successful in the career I choose.

Tim Skala. To drive down the highway in a convertible red Ferrari with a blonde girl at my side

Debbie Sheahan. To hear my voice on compact disc in the next few years and to work in a sports medicine clinic as a physical therapist

Dean Sharenow. To drum for King Crimson.

Lee Solon. To enjoy life and my career, sharing my happiness with a wonderful man

Kaycee-

Hey honnie-bunnie! Well baby, first of all you are such a doll and I love you so much. You are like one of my bestest friends in this whole wide world! I'm so glad that we became as good as friends as we are and we will be for a long long time FOREVER!! I don't really know if you know how much you mean to me- but your friendship means SO much

You remember that I'm always here for anything - k- and I love you forever

F/F

HORIZON HIGH SCHOOL
5601 E. Greenway Road
Scottsdale, AZ 85254

Telephone: 953-4104

Dear Class of 1987:

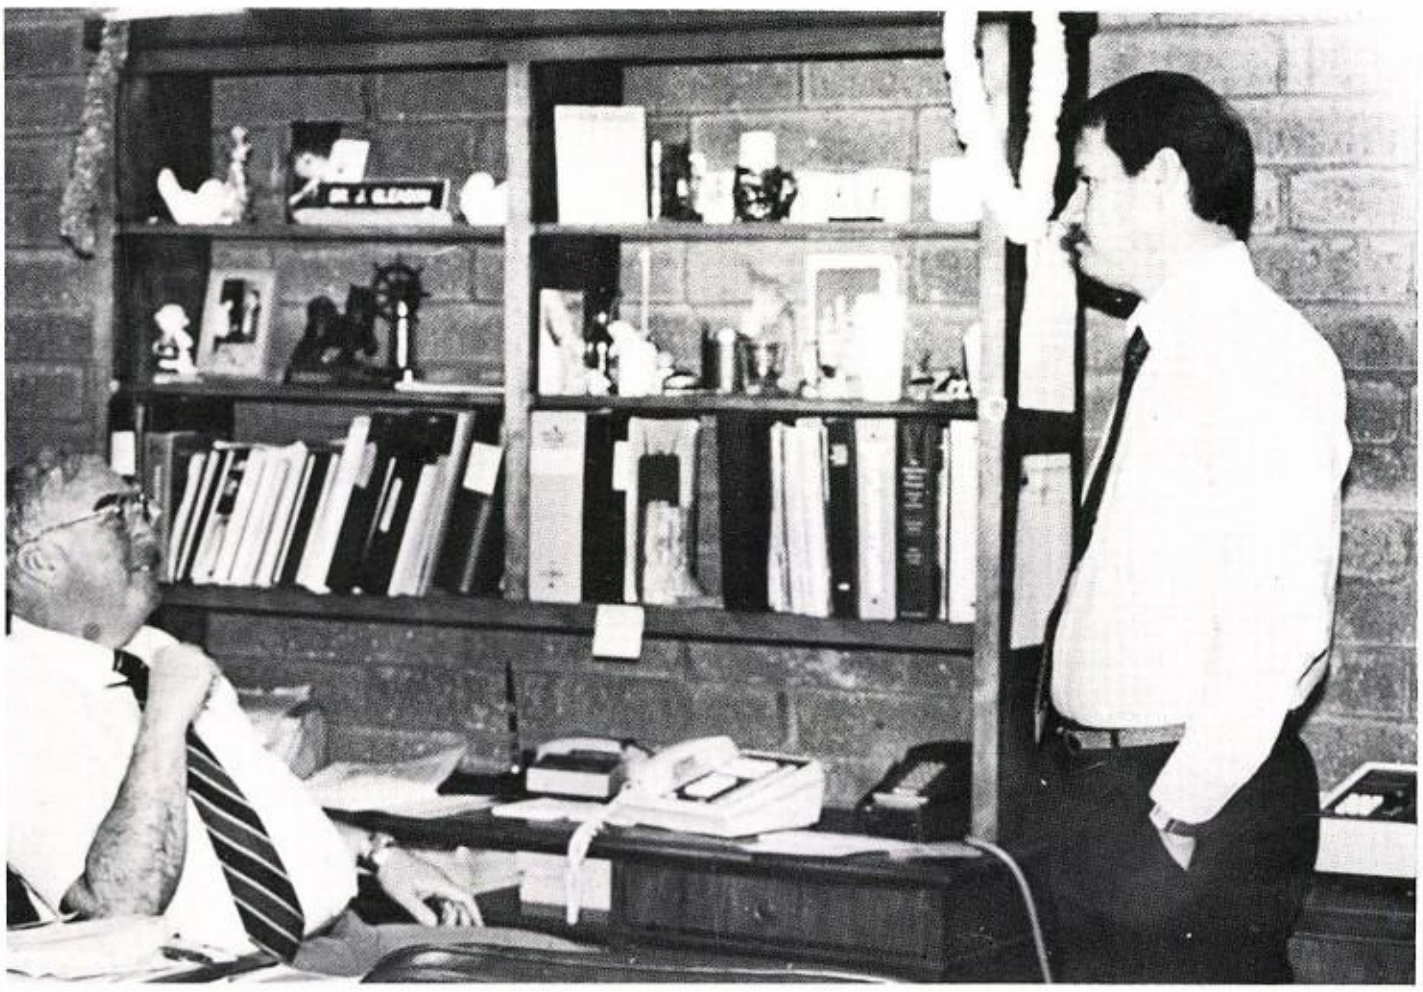
You have completed four years of high school education, and leave these hallowed halls full of a desire to succeed and leave your mark upon society. I commend you on this outstanding achievement.

We have tried, as a faculty, to make your years here worthwhile and enjoyable. We truly strive to give you the best high school experience possible. We wish you well as you leave us, and hopefully, as you start on the next segment of life's journey you won't forget those of us that you met along the way. We appreciate knowing each and every one of you even though that is not an easy chore in a school the size of ours.

Thank you for being such an important part of my life as you achieve your goals and successes, please continue to stay in touch with us and let us share in your achievements.

Sincerely yours,

James F. Gleason, Ed. D.
Principal



WHERE WAS I? Mr. Reager works hard going through the files.

Foreign Fun

What comes into your mind when you think of a foreign language club? One might imagine a classroom full of kids reciting "uno, dos, tres" or "hola senior," but a foreign language club is much more than that.

For one thing, it involves service. Canned food drives for the less fortunate were conducted this year. It also involves socializing. As Lisa Zajas said, a foreign language club was a good place to meet people. The clubs are also a place for fun—and surprise, as those who were kidnapped by the Spanish Honorary in the middle of the night found out.

Service, socializing, and fun were all a part of the foreign language club scene at Horizon.

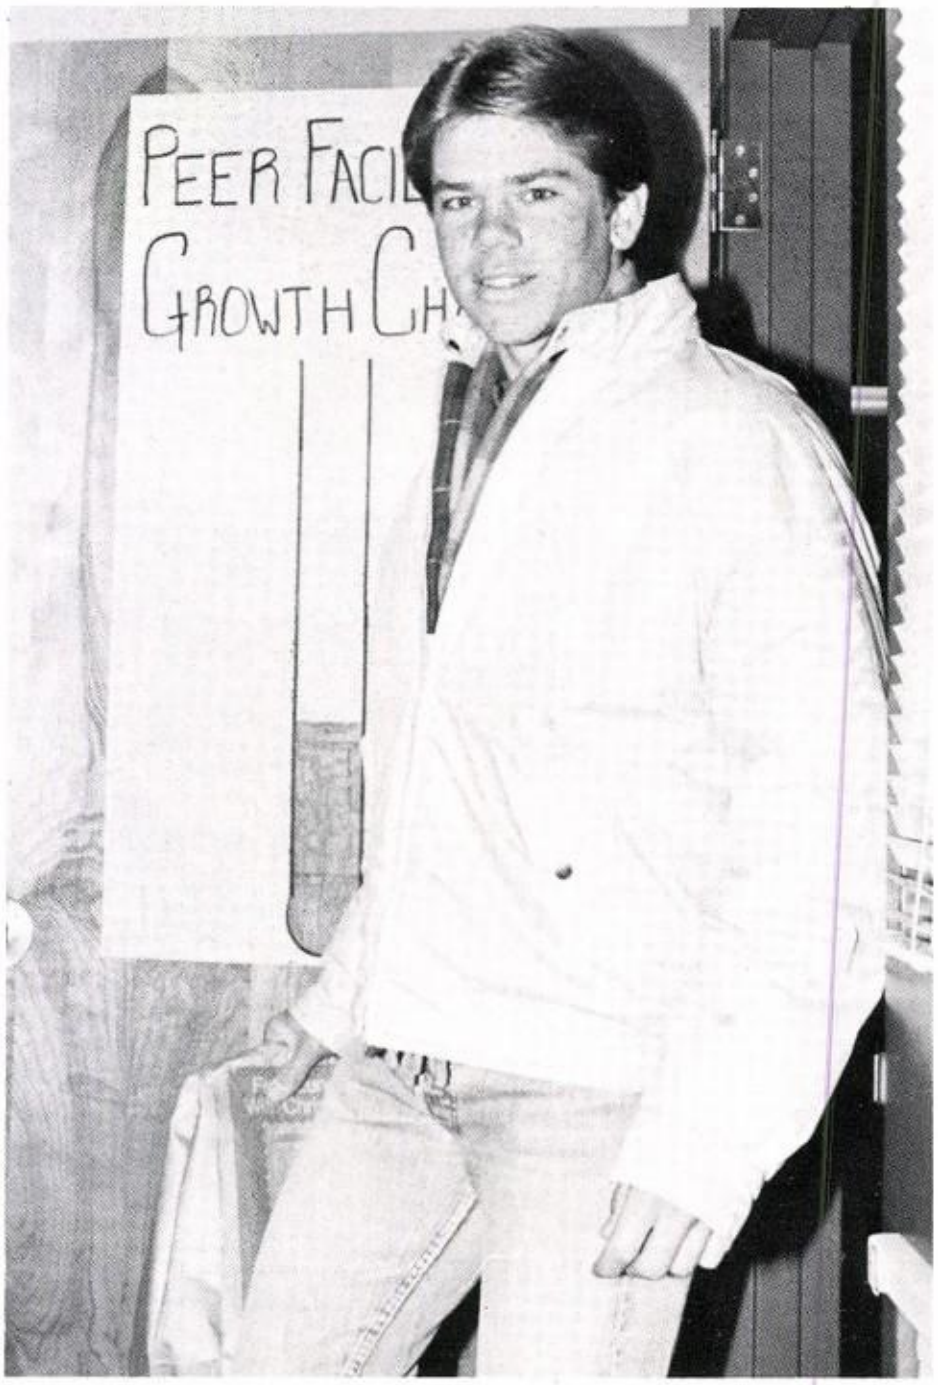
Friendly Facilitators

May I help you? This was the attitude of the new Horizon peer facilitators. Hoping to aid hurting students, the counselors decided to select kids that wanted to help and possibly relate better with other students. These unique high schoolers desired to council and encourage others to work through their problems. To do this, the facilitators went to lunch with the students, spent time with them and became a friend.

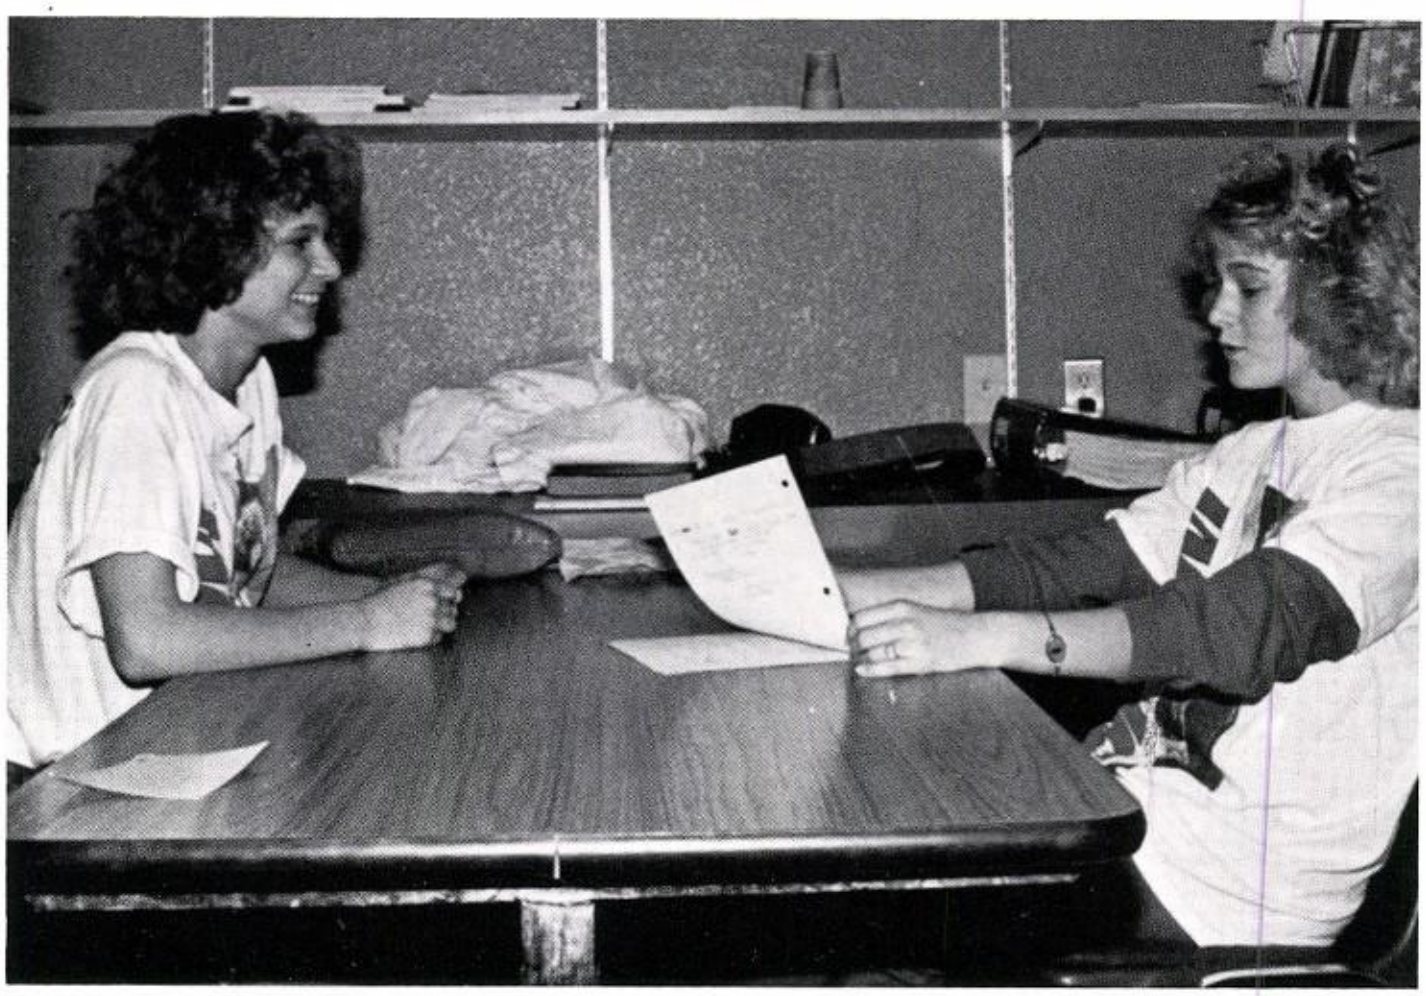
Many students asked, "why peer facilitators?" Tammy Hoffman best explained, "We saw a need to have more Horizon students who care." Mrs. Woodward, one of the counselors who brought together the idea of the peer facilitators, said, "It is an exciting and unique way for outstanding students to serve their school community."

These facilitators served other students in several different ways. Not only did they personally talk to students but also brought in others to help them. One such was the speaker Josh McDowell who spoke about family relationships and boyfriend /girlfriend relationships, which all teenagers can relate to. The new peer facilitators were a valuable addition to the school.



SURPRISE! Steve Doerksen was caught leaving the peer facilitator room where he counsels other students.

WELL, WHAT'S UP? Hayley Sutton prepares to councel Jackie Parciak.



ELEVEN ISN'T ENOUGH! The peer facilitators worked together as a family to help the students at Horizon.

We The People

Ugh! This was the common response heard from Advanced Placement (A.P.) students everywhere. Whether A.P. American History for juniors or A.P. Government for seniors, it mattered little.

Mr. Wolfe's crushing tests and comprehensive notes brought a new meaning to the word tough. Junior Kim Loring proclaimed "On the days you take notes, you can not do anything else for the rest of the day because your hand is in a perpetual cramp."

You are now probably wondering what went on in these classes. A.P. American History involved... well, ...American History. The first semester spanne from the early settlers to recor struction. Second semester wer from there up to Vietnam. A.P Government followed along sim lar lines, tracing from the Revolu tion to recent governmental pol cies.

Still you question what make these classes so special? Their for mats seem identical to regula classes. The big difference in volved a fifty dollar college tes This exam was so difficult that simple overview would not cut i A.P. classes are actually a thir year college class. Last year's tes takers placed in the top three per cent of the state passing rate

RAPID EYE MOVEMENT? Senior Lyndsey Glogosh asks Mrs. Neidner for assistance.

I KNEW THERE WAS SOMETHING ELSE I NEEDED TO STUDY FOR! Mr. Wolfe passed out tests to his A.P. Government class.

Many of these students then received college credit.

Besides A.P. classes, other interesting subjects were offered. Mr. Reifenrath, for instance, taught the very popular Criminal Law class. Here students learned how the judicial system worked and even participated in little mock trials. Junior Doug Wasbotten said, "It was a fun class. We had guest speakers every other day." One such speaker was an ex-convict, Bill Owens. Owens not only spoke to the classes but held a question and answer at both lunch hours. Psychology and sociology were also offered. Mrs.Neidner taught students about man's behavior.

Classes were not the only thing offered in the Social Science department. Mr. Flint offered students a chance to go to Girls and Boys state. This summer's participants were Patty Marby, Kim Littlefield, Jon Thomas, Chris Buskirk, Dean Sharenow and Scott Bernstein. The purpose of girls and boys state is to teach high school students how government works on state levels. Senior Jon Thomas felt it was, "an all around governmental experience with party benefits." Senior Patty Marby thought it was, "fabulous, wonderful, stimulating, exciting, motivating, nerve wracking, emotional, and the best experience I have ever had in my life, quite seriously!"

Yet, still another interesting sideline offered was Close-Up. Students went to the capital for one week to attend seminars, meet state representatives, sight see, and make friends. Mr. Williamson was in charge of this year's trip.

Well, no matter which it was, psychology, law, government, or history, "we the people" certainly were fortunate to have such a variety of classes.

Business Buffs

There were many different kinds of groups at Horizon that were designed for the business minded student. . . DECA, one such group, was sponsored by Mr. Cruze. They were involved in the canned food drive at Horizon which brought in 7500 cans. They attended the fall and winter area conferences where they won 12 medals.

FBLA, another business club, was sponsored by Ms. Haas. They were involved in the Western Region Fall Leadership Conference in Anahiem, California. They received first place for "Battle of the States." At the winter conference, held at Horizon, they received 8 awards and one chapter award.

COE was sponsored by Ms. Haas. Along with the canned food drive at Christmas, they also sponsored candy sales. COE helped and participated in the FBLA Regional Conference in February. At the end of the year, they planned to hold a banquet for all the employers.

The industrial ed club at Horizon, known as VICA , was sponsored by Mr. Hildebrand. In addition to the bagel sales held every Thursday, they supported a race car and worked as a pit crew. VICA planned to hold their annual car show in May along with the Industrial Ed Fair.

Mu Alpha Theta Adds Up.

What was Mu Alpha Theta? Well, it was a math honorary for people interested in math. The clubs purpose was to promote math in high school and maybe even for a career in the math field.

The requirements for the club were a B average and the students had to have completed six semesters of high school level math. Mrs. Bussey and Mrs. Connely ran the club, which tutored students.

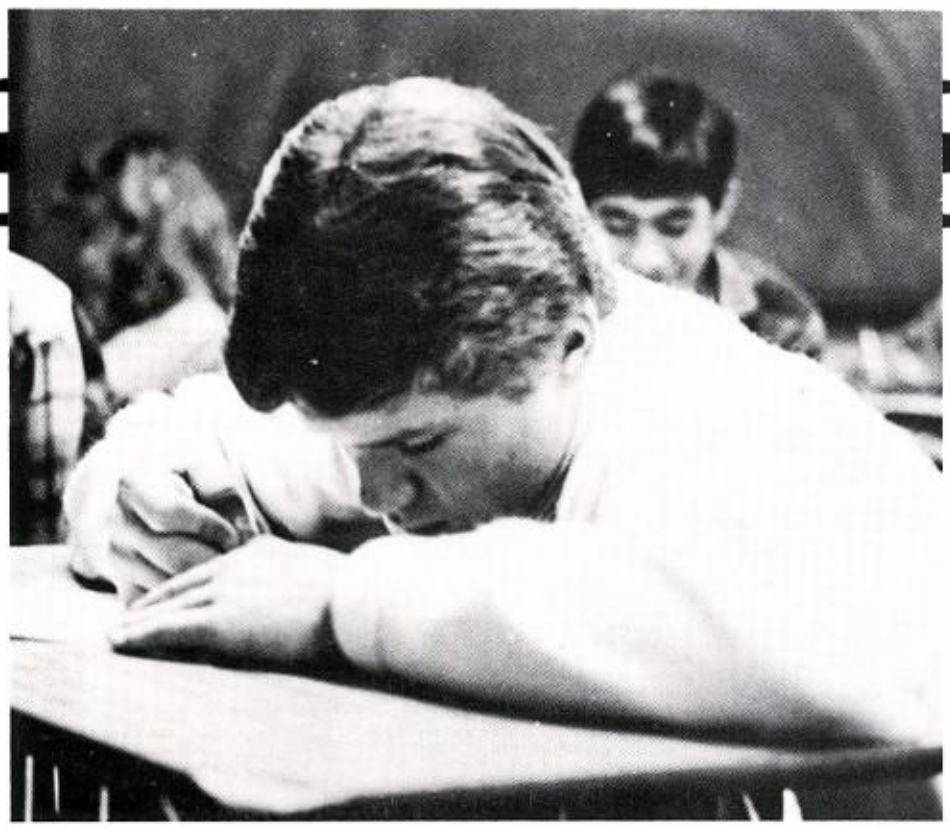
SURPRISE! Ms. Saunders' third hour class gives her a birthday cake. Students chipped in to buy the surprise pastry.



X EQUALS WHAT? Frank Gandee diligently works in math class.

Creating a Future

What am I going to build next? This was a thought that went through many students' heads who chose industrial arts as an elective. Woods, metals, plastics, autos, and drafting made up the curricular, where students learned from hands- on experience. These classes prepared students for hobbies and possibly future jobs.

In woods class, students are taught and graded on safety and the projects they make. There were two required: a book shelf and a jewlery box, while the rest of the work was up to the students. Some creative items made in woods ranged from VCR cabinets to clocks.

Metals class was also a selected class by students. In this class students learn to work and help create a sandrail. In plastics some creative projects are cabinets, mirrors, tiny igloos, and name plates.

WOULDN'T LEGOS BE EASIER?

WHAT DO WE DO WITH THIS?
Art Coffey, Reigan Borst, and Jason Wesley ponder upon this question in their automotives class.

And the Curtain Rises

Encore! Encore!

Let's give a standing ovation for Horizons 86-87 musical production Grease! The show proved so succesful that people were turned away at the door. Mrs. Fitzpatrick was quoted saying, "I felt it was an interesting concept to do a strong dance oriented show with a rock combo instead of an orchestra. I felt it was well recieved!" The talent consisted of Amy Boehle as Sandy, James Carlson as Danny, Allison Bertelli as Rizzo, and John Polo as Knekie. The other leads (The Pink Ladies and the Burger Palace Boys) consisted of Lindsey Glogosh as Frenchy, Vince Sorren as Doody, Tiffany Asch as Marty, Scott Morrison as Sunny, Lisa Brown as Jan, and Arron Lingle as Roger.

The drama club was a new edition to the extra curricular activities offered at Horizon in '86. The drama clubs purpose was to inform students about the knowledge and activities of the performing arts section. The club started out with twelve main members, and ended up with over seventy! Half were known as the membership group, and the other half, the activities group, called the spians. They perform one act plays around the district, and help promote involvement in the performing arts section.

"Hats off" to a new club for a great year!

Kaycee- Hey babes so this has been a rad year hasn't it? Party's gotta go uh? Well I have to shape up now- don't you think. I do. Well I hope next year is RAD too. It should be don't ya think I mean we'll be sophomores! Cool. Well your a total doodi I love ya to death

XOXO ya for ever
Jennifer
ICIT
953-3202

"SAY GREASE!" The leads take five to flash a smile for the camera.

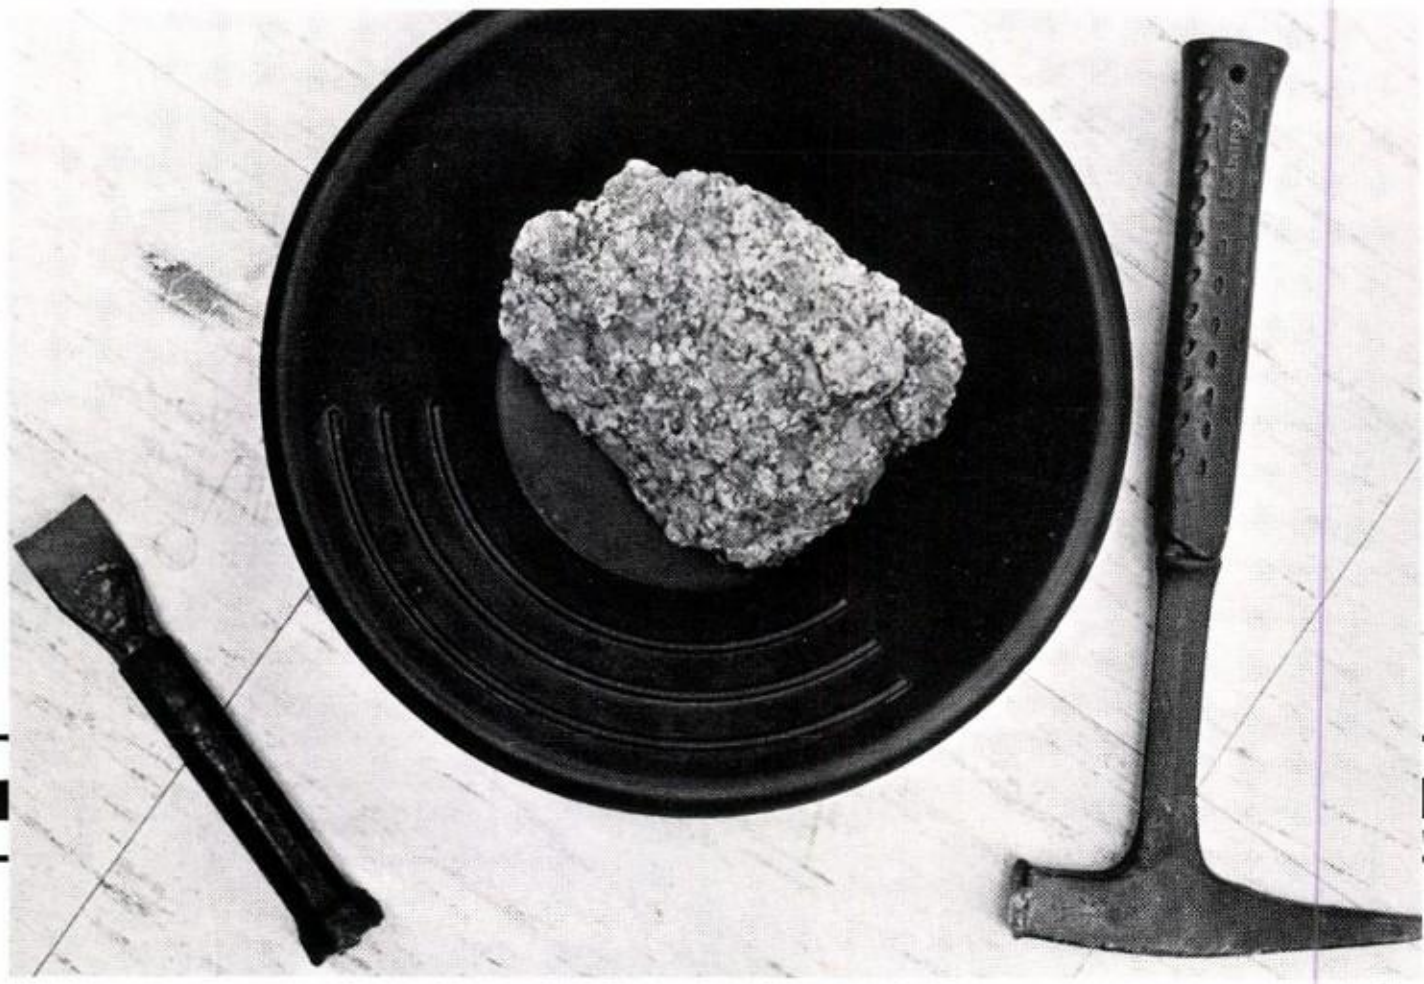
TO BE OR NOT TO BE was not a question for the new drama club.

"MY TURN!" Mrs. Fitzpatric calls a weary cast to attention.

Solid as a Rock

A piece of rough rock isn't worth anything. Or is it? The geology club could make a rock into a gem. The rough rock was cracked into spoon sizes and then it was placed into the tumbling barrel with grinding grit. After a week, it was placed in the pre-polish compound for another week and then finally it was ready for the polishing compound. After being washed it was ready for jewelry.



TURNING ROCKS INTO GEMS. Geology club polishes rocks into gems.

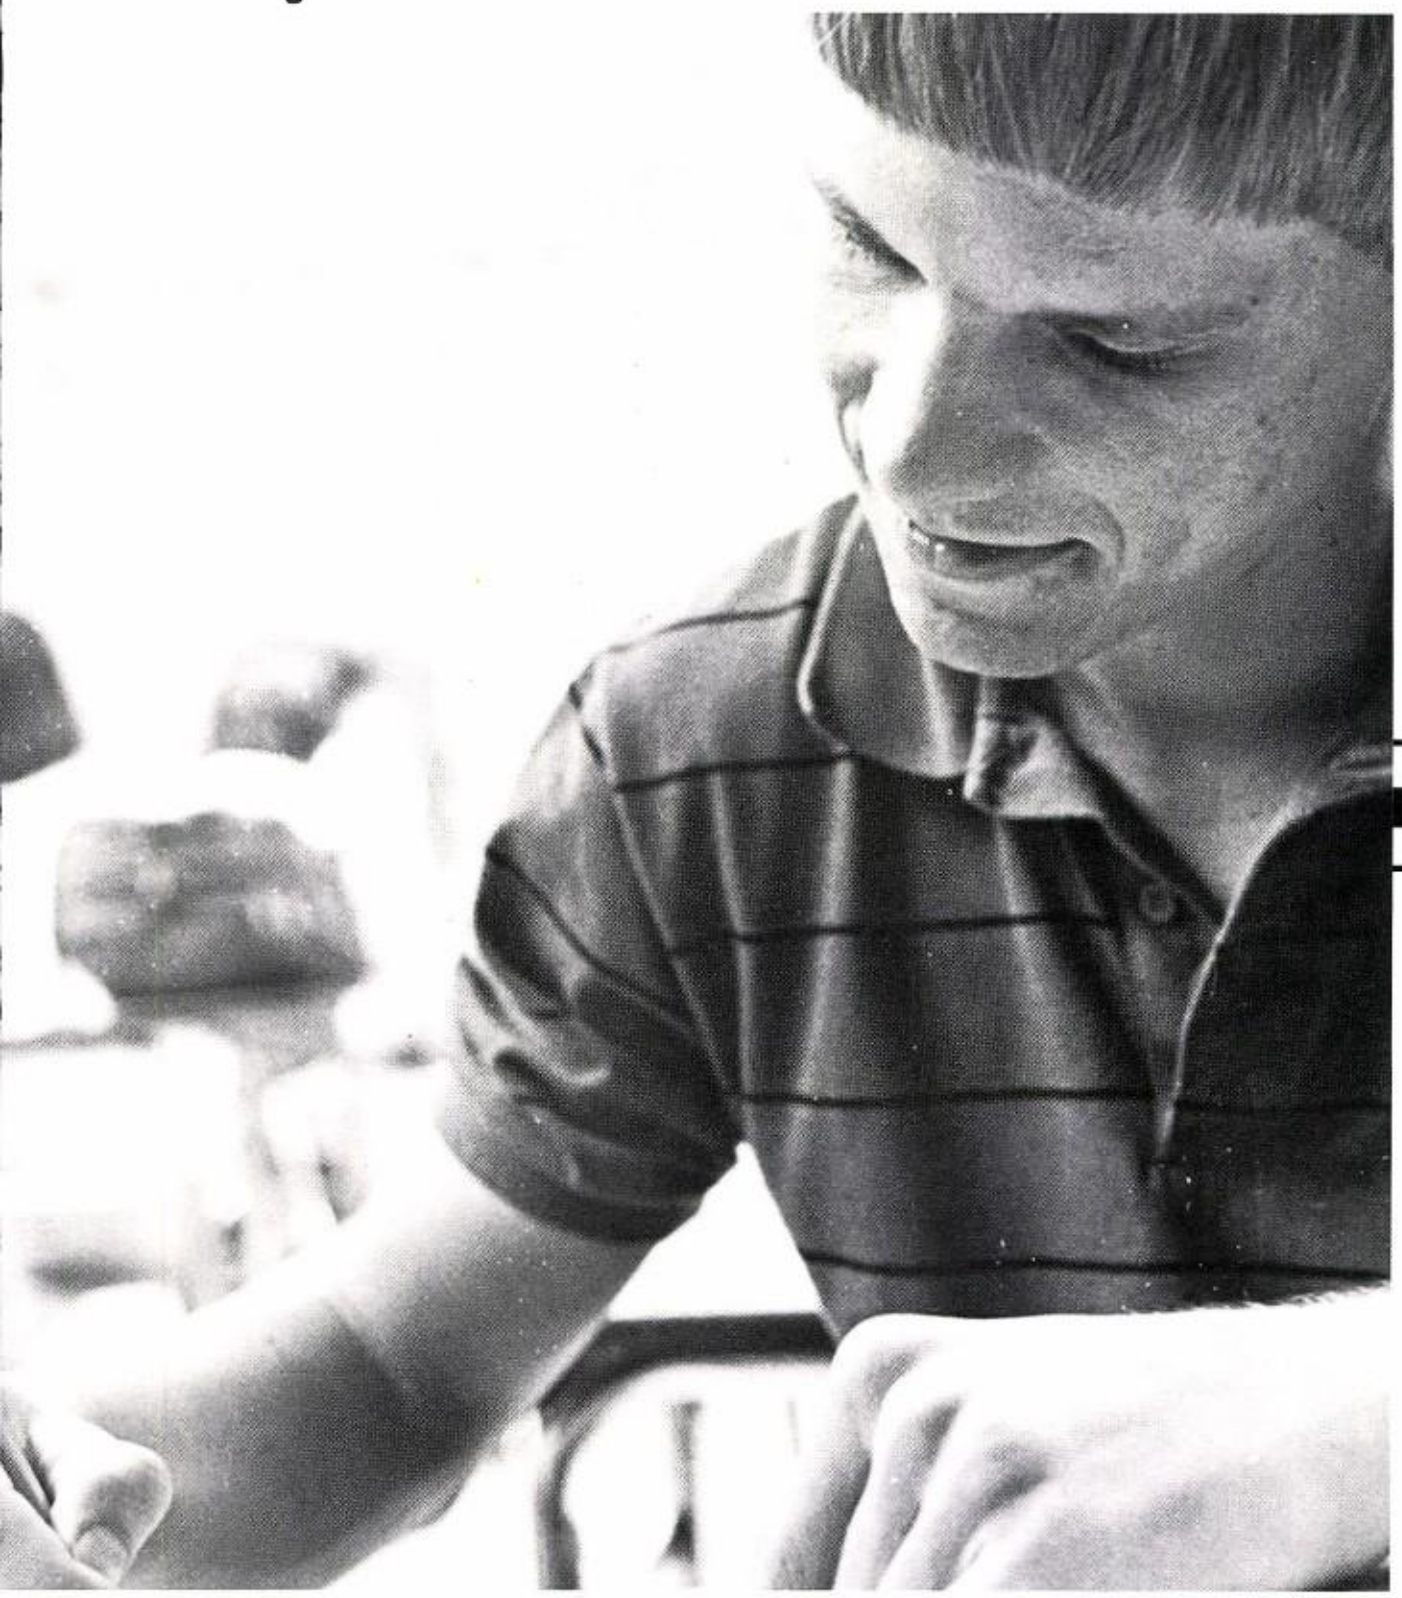
Physics: Good for the Brain



T equals what? Pie is what? Question upon question, it must be physics. Physics is the analysis of natural phenomena. It deals with the motion of objects and what forces do to objects.

Mr. Dillon, physics teacher, said ," Kids take physics to prepare themselves for taking college physics or engineering programs later on.

Annually, the physics class went to Roadrunner Park in May. The students worked in pairs constructing cardboard boats using only corrugated cardboard and water soluble glue. They all got in the boats and tried to then stay afloat for 15 minutes and complete the most laps in the pool.

ONE PLUS ONE... Jeff Rugen finishes off classwork in physics.

I JUST DON'T UNDERSTAND? Marty Ball and Shari Brande listen closely to Mr. Dillon explain the "mind-boggling" facts of Physics.

Rembrandt Lives

CERAMICS ANYONE? Mrs. Berrett helps Mike Scheer with his clay creation.

It is fourth period. Senior Kelly Harris sits at a table, her own pencil sketch in her hand. She gazes thoughtfully at it and reflects on her experience in the rough and tumble world of professional art. "Art is so competitive that no matter how good you are, there's always 10 better."

Kelly was one of Mrs. Berrett's art students. Mrs. Berrett taught Intro to Art, Painting, and Drawing, and in each class, strove to get students interested and involved in art. One way she got students interested was through the Art Honorary Society, as well as through competition at district art shows.

Back at fourth hour, Kelly puts the finishing touches on her drawing. "I was hired to do this," she says. Not even out of high school and already making money from art!

Say Cheese!

Senior photography student Kevin Geary fumbles with an uncooperative flash attachment. You would think that faulty equipment would get Kevin down, but he just smiles. Despite his equipment tribulations, Kevin is a photographer whose accomplishments include winning first and second places in the experimental photography category at the State Fair, as well as winning the Rosette competition last year. Kevin wasn't the only Horizon photographer honored. Four student photos from Horizon were accepted into the Photography Society of America, a year long travelling student art exhibit which traverses the entire country.

Interest in photography was high, and photography teacher Alexandria Lewis was happy about that. She specialized in unusual, creative photographs, and she stressed that creative spirit in her classes. One event that boosted the popularity of photography was the judging and critiquing of pictures at the State Fair, where 100 Horizon photography students participated.

Literary Magazine in the Write

Hear ye, hear ye, come get your Horizon newspaper! The newspaper offered the student body some changes from last year: more features, sports and news that was happening around school. The staff decided to keep the same format as last year, a magazine style.

The most interesting event was, "finding out our printer went out of business over night," said Perez. The staff had to then scramble to get another printer.

Micheal Perez and Kari Jhaveri were the editors-in-chief of the paper. The staff consisted of 18 people. The class may have helped some decide on careers. Kari Jhaveri said," It is my third year in newspaper ,and I would like to major in journalism in college."

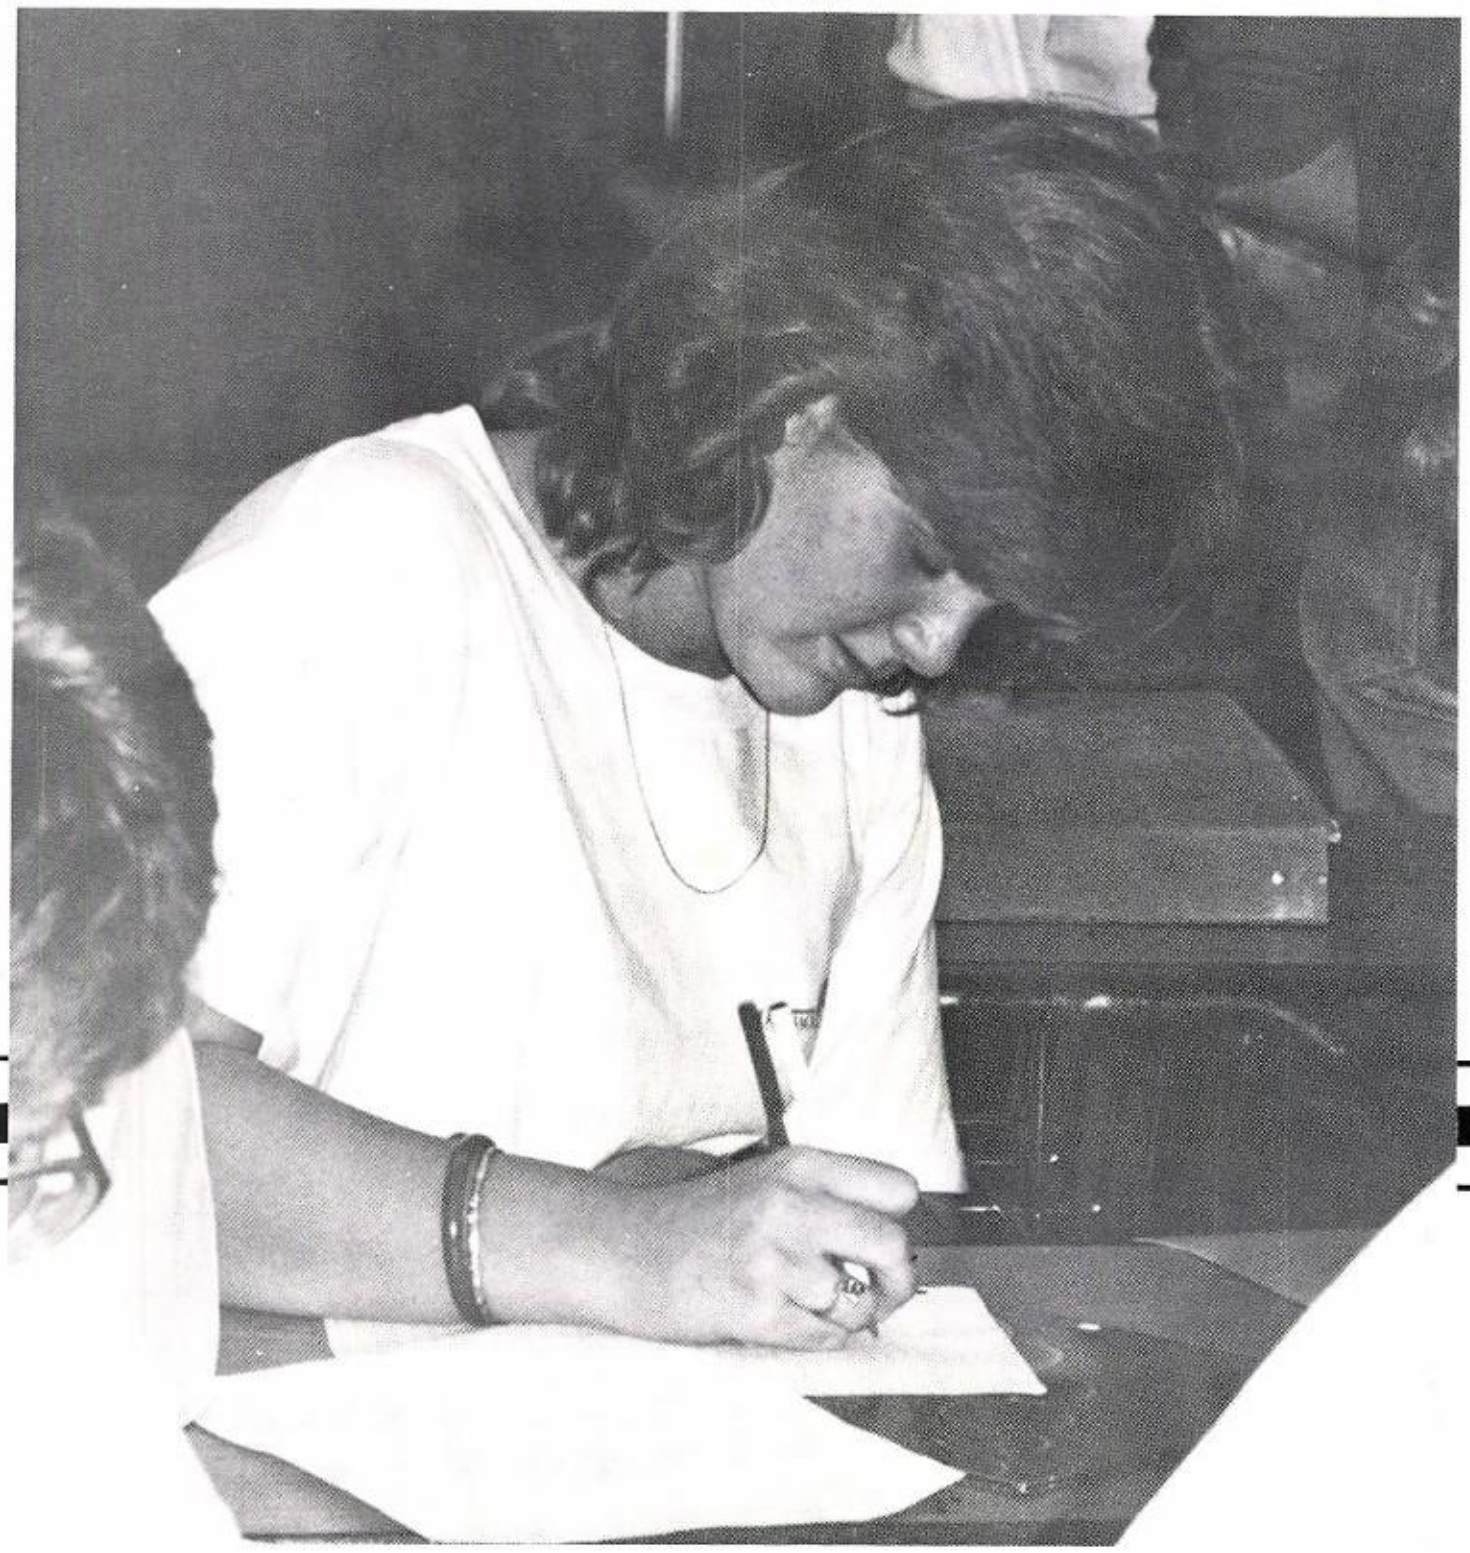
News at Horizon



Poems, stories, and drawings—all were a part of Pawprints, Horizon's literary magazine. The staff consisted of 11 students. These were students who were interested in writing and drawing. The magazing accepted and printed material from the Horizon student body.

Changes from last year included cash prizes and more members contributing to the club.

When club member David Kuhns was asked what he enjoyed about the club, he responed, "I enjoy the business part and collecting the funds." Carla Flood said, "I enjoy English and writing poetry. I would like to major in writing in college."

HMMM... What should I write now?

No Breaks for the Huskies

A young team and only 5 returning players made for a challenging year on Varsity football. After loosing their first three, the Huskies played Thunderbird. In the game Phil Musquin ran for two touchdowns and Brian White recovered a fumble in the end zone for the other touchdown. In the 24 to 10 victory for Horizon, a field goal by senior Brian Goaziou capped the scoring.

The Huskies toughest game was two weeks later against the former state champs the St. Mary's Knights. After a scoreless first quarter the Huskies allowed 21 points for the Knights in the second. The Huskies tried to come back but fell to the champs 35-7.

The last game of the season was the Huskies Homecoming with Corona Del Sol. The Huskies went in at halftime trailing 7-0. The team came out in the second half ready to play. The Huskies tried to come back but lost a tough game 21-0. The Huskies hit hard and played well. Jeff Walther stated,"The team played with a lot of heart and spirit."

The '86 season proved to be a learning one. Even though their record was not great, the Huskies worked hard all season and kept the tradition at Horizon for being one of the hardest hitting football teams in the state.

J.V. Blitz's Rivals

I wish I could get in there. I know I could help. I know exactly what to do. . .

With an unusually large J.V. football squad, this thought crossed many of the players minds. They did eventually get chances and earned a 4-4 record. With this record the team remained strong the entire season.

The team had many arch rivals, meaning tough games. These games were tough on the squad, and passing and rushing was difficult. Despite the loss, the best game was against Brophy. They stuck together and played as a team.

The team did not play just to have fun, but according to David Cooper, "I like to promote pride for the school." While Greg Ruiz enjoyed "Watching the team out there and doing a good job."

Okay, now I'm in. Let me remember, play 16A, swing behind the Q.B. grab the ball, tuck down and run. Here we go, hike . . . Touchdown!

Frosh On Winning Streak

Did you hear about frosh football? The freshman crew set a new record at HHS with their 7-1 season.

One of the best games of this record breaking season was against Goldwater, according to Ron Crutchfield, inside linebacker. He said,"Everybody played and we met all of our goals."

Rich Fourmy had similar thoughts when he commented, "The last three games were great. We managed to get a big enough lead that we were able to get every player in the game."

With so many players on the field, it may truly be said this record season was a team effort.

Cheer to Horizon

Dedication? Enthusiasm? Stamina? Horizon cheerleaders had it all. Throughout the whole year, these girls stuck together to spread their Husky spirit. Everyday, except Fridays, they met for about two hours to perfect their special cheer moves. They used these skills for raising the spirit at all of the assemblies and football games.

Many of these cheers that the girls performed were learned and polished at cheer camp during the summer. For three days at NAU, the girls truly saw the importance of the unity and togetherness as a school and team. Shelly Rademacher, JV's co-captain, explained, "We must have unity within the school and as a cheer line to possess and spread the spirit."

Furthermore, they displayed their outstanding abilities in competition at camp. Out of 45 teams or more, the Horizon cheerleaders came in third place. This raised the Husky spirit level even more.

Spirit Zone

Many girls dream of becoming a member of the pom line when they first enter school. Being a member is both fun and exciting but as Shawn Schaffer said, "It demands a good amount of quality time."

The work began as soon as they were selected. They raised money by having car washes and other fund raisers. Also, they practiced for at least 8-10 hours a week during the summer and school year. All of this hard work paid off. During the summer the pom line got a superior trophy and spirit stick which entitled them to participate in the NCA championship in Aneheim, California, where the line danced on Jan. 2-4. "It was an honor to be chosen to go, and we had lots of fun." Said Christy Valesh.

Dawn Marsillo and Kirsten Krause were nominated to dance in Europe. Dawn was a finalist and won an opportunity to dance at the Aloha Bowl.

On this year's line there were many new girls. Jessica Barret, Jennifer Payne, Michelle Ruminer, Katey Bell, Brigitte Cremeans, Rae-Ann Osenkowsky, Germaine Profita. "The new pommies were a nice addition to the line, they are eager to learn and work hard," said Ms. Archibald, pom sponsor.

READY! Bridgitte Cremeans waits to do the next move to cheer on the football team.

A Swinging Season

Successful for another season, the Huskie golfers finished third in divisionals and fourth in the state, with Hub Goyen as the state individual medalist.

Taking over as coach for the first time at Horizon was English teacher Bob Taylor. "It keeps me in touch with the younger generation," said Mr. Taylor. He has been playing golf for over twenty years, and said that he enjoys it because, "You're never too old to for golf."

Hub Goyen, the team's most valuable player, said his most favorite thing about the game was travelling. David Hosey said, "I don't like it; it drives me crazy, but it is addicting." Whatever the reason was for playing, golf continued to be a successful program.

Bopping To The Top

Bump, Set, Spike! The 1986-87 girls Varsity Volleyball team worked their way to the top one more time. The lady Huskies had a very succesful season due to the hard work and team dedication shown both on and off the court. Senior Chriss Freeman, three year returning Varsity player said,"The whole team works together very well and that's why we're so organized. Everyone is always involved."

Throughought the season, the team had set very high goals for both mid-season and finals. They successfully made it to the state playoff's against the Spartans of Camelback. They fell to an unexpected loss but of course, put up a good fight.

Senior, Felica Sardella said one of their strongest points was having a tall team. Height helps in blocking and all around defense.

The team as a whole had many strong and above all, they were devoted. With all the team spirit and devotion shown, the Varsity Volleyball team proved to be successful once again.

Spiking High

Practice, practice, practice! That's what the freshman and J.V. Volleyball girls devoted a lot of their time to. They practiced about fifteen hours a week. Some of the girls thought it was hard and tiring, but they enjoyed being with their teammates and working together.

"We have a lot of fun. Sometimes the practices last too long, but it's worth it," said Shelly Lemon, a junior on the J.V. team. The Junior Varsity team had an excellent season of 15-2.

The freshmen had a winning season of 17-0. And thus, their practicing time was rewarded, too. Coach Strauch and Coach Oliver spent a lot of hard work and skill leading the girls to their victories.

A Stride Ahead

On Your Mark, Get Set, Bang! Both of the Horizon Cross Country teams captured winning seasons. The girls had a season of 17 wins and 4 losses. The girls also placed 4th out of 8 teams in divisionals, and continued on to the state meet. The boys had a season of 11 wins and 9 losses. This did not come easily to them as they practiced long hours in pre-season conditioning and throughout the year. "Even though practice was tough at times, it was well worth the effort," said senior Dave Midkiff.

The boys' most improved runners this year were junior Sean Kelly and freshman Marti Medellian. The girls most valuable runner was Lisa Christensen. Coach Newsome also added Lisa is "very dependable."

Staying On Top

Where's the birdie? Often it was on the opposing side of the net, as the varsity and J.V. badminton teams had another great season. The varsity team, led by Denise Sistek and Carina Antonino, roared to a 9 and 2 finish defeating some tough competition. Not only did the team do well during the season, but they also did well at divisionals. Carina Antonino placed fifth in the skyline division.

Practice consisted of serves, overhead drops, and basic play. The team also improved their skills each day, taught by the experienced Coach Tippett.

Varsity player Stacey Seck thought the best thing about badminton was "The experience of participating in a fun sport, surrounded by fun, spirited people." J.V. player Jean Kennedy wanted to play badminton because she "wanted to meet a new variety of people, and have fun at the same time." For whatever reason they played, the whole team played well.

Motivation Unites Team

A stroke of luck? Definitely not! Working hard, the Horizon Huskie boys and girls swim teams did well.

Although the swimmers liked what they were doing, it was not all play for them. They practiced eight times a week in six days.

The boys earned a season record of Justin Marshall and David Montaperto were named most valuable players, although coach Horvath commented that "The whole team was highly motivated, hard working and maintained a positive attitude throughout the whole season."

The girls swim team also had a good year with a record of Shannon Fitzsimons and Corine Scher were among the list as most valuable swimmers."Swimming is an exhilerating sport that gives you a feeling of satisfaction — especially when you win," stated Pam Wainman.

Climbing to the Top of the Ladder

Who's the best Diving Team? Horizon of course — at least Joel O'Connel, Diving coach of Shadow Mountain, P.V. and Horizon seemed to think so when she said the team had the strongest diving squad in the district and skyling division. When asked why, she replied, "practice!" Shannon Clark, Julie Drazisky, Tim Hughes, David Lenese, and Karen Lazarus dove year round. All their practicing paid off. Shannon Clark lost only one meet, Tim Hughes only two. David Lanese also did well scoring solid second and thirds. The girls were all equally strong divers.

Of course it wasn't all victorious. Hard work was a large portion of diving. Shannon Clark said the hardest part of diving was diving in cold temperatures. She said, "Your body numbs and you can't feel yourself move."

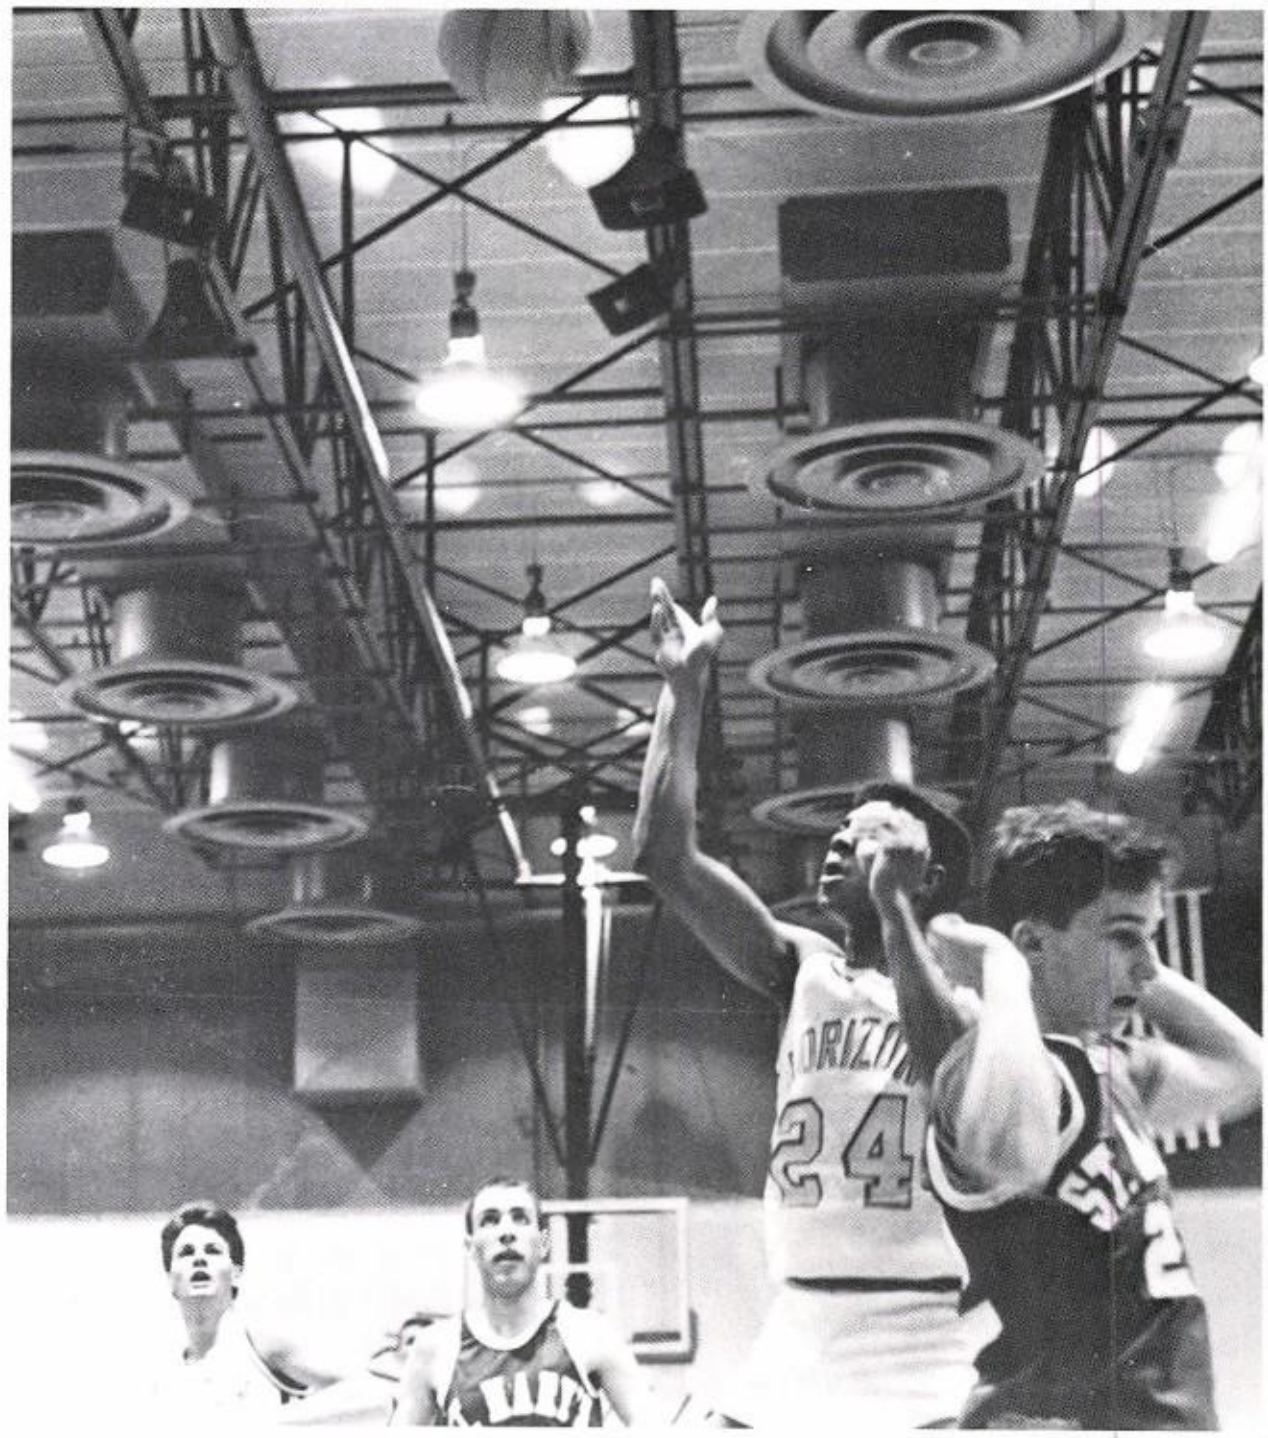
Dribble to Victory



3,2,1, . . . Shea Scott makes another exciting shot, as teammate Chris Wattawa looks on.

You are a Varsity Basketball player. You stand, the ball in your hands, ready to make the shot that will propel your team to victory. The pressure is on, the crowd is hyped up, and the ball soars through the hoop to the screams of victory from every teammate and spectator on your side.

Playing on the varsity team wasn't always like this, but they had their sweet moments of victory. The last regular season game against Brophy was won by a nail biting two points, giving indigestion to an ardent fan and a playoff opportunity to the varsity team. After the game, fans poured onto the floor to celebrate.

In the playoffs, the Huskies met the same Brophy team, and in a close battle came up on the losing end by a score of 74 to 70. Shea Scott and Rusty Fallin were the Huskie high scorers, getting 21 and 18 points respectively.

Shooting To the Top

J.V. and Frosh Basketball were on the go again with lots of spirit and confidence. The J.V. team was coached by Coach Peters and the Frosh by Coach Strauch. Both teams had a hardworking, enthusiastic season.

The J.V. team felt that Coach Peters brought them together as a team and gave them the confidence they needed to win. The teams best aspect of the season was their incredible fast break. Mike Berset said, "We have a lot of talent and in the coming years we will be an even better organization." The team had a winning season and Coach Peters was quite impressed. Coach Peters said, "I had mixed emotions about working with this team. When they ran the fast break, well, they were extremely enjoyable to watch. Overall, though, I feel like it has been a positive experience."

Freshman basketball worked hard this season with the help of Coach Ron Strauch. The team had an all around positive season and worked hard at practice and games. Freshman Kevin Naughton said, "We had a lot of talent during the season; the team worked together as a whole."

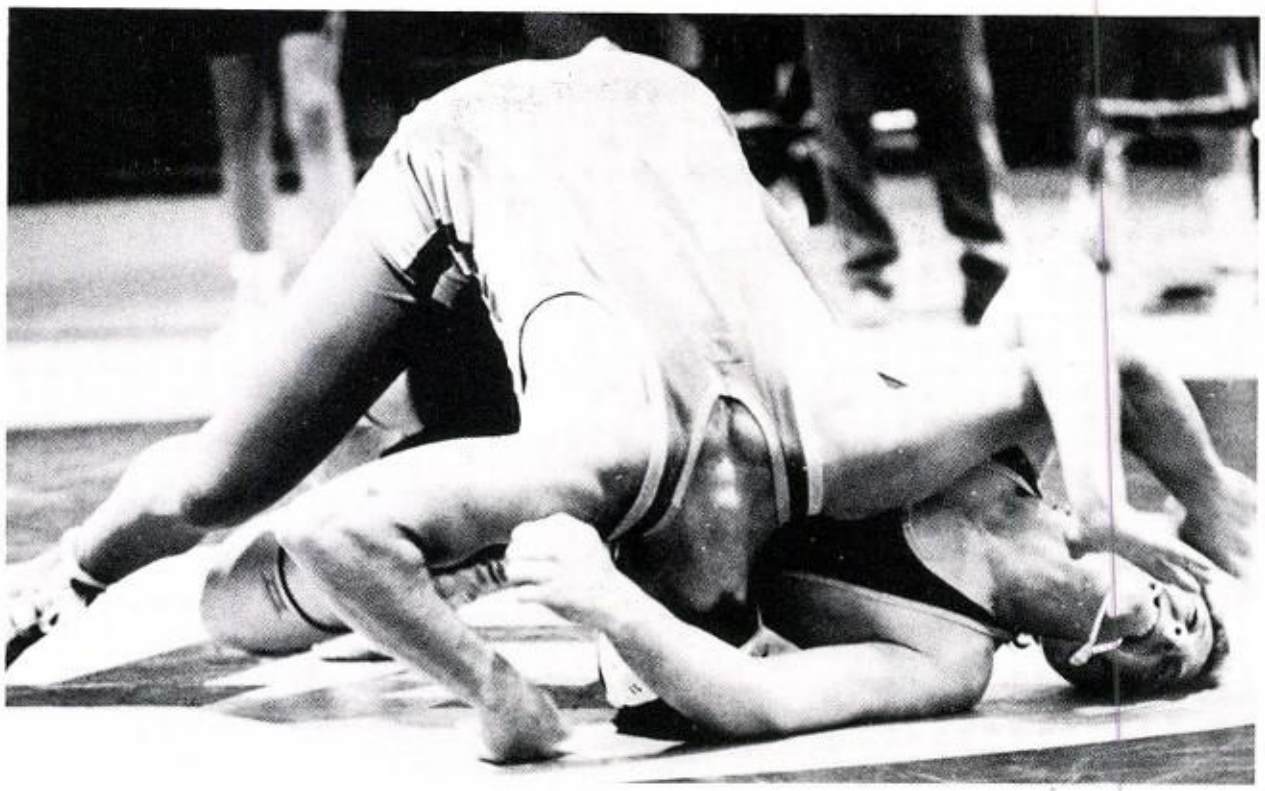
STATE QUALIFIERS

Horizon wrestling went to state, with six grapplers qualifying for the state tournament. Two of them, sophomore Chris Hughes and junior Bryan McMillan took first. Ty Partin took second with senior Jim Rizzo and sophomores Andy Mandell and Mark Montaperto taking fourth. Ty Partin said, "Going to state was an experience I'll always remember."

This year, as always, many wrestlers were concerned with the subject of weight loss. Coaches would set a weight in which the wrestlers had to hold to in order to compete in meets. How did they do this? Freshman Dennis Kirk said, "In order to drop my weight, I had to wrestle, run, and drink only water for three days. I lost nine pounds in three weeks." However they did it, the wrestling team proved once again that they were winners.



I WON'T GIVE UP! Russie Goldman keeps on fighting for a win.

TEAMWORK PAYS OFF

Question: Why was the varsity softball team so successful? It started with hard practices after school. The practices consisted of hitting and fielding drills and running.

The main reason that the varsity players did so well was because of team work. The players played as a family, working together and helping each other. Angela Castellano said, "When someone had a problem, everyone would help out. It was a good feeling to know you always had somewhere to go."

No matter how tough the practices were, or how hard the games seemed, the players played with a lot of spirit, and more importantly, they played as a team.

Batter Up

Though they won two straight over Thunderbird, the J.V. softball team had a tough time with their other opponents. Coach Dillon stated that despite the overall record, the girls were still indeed winners.
The most valuable player was Melissa Itule. The most improved player was Cathy Burgin.

When Jennifer Deakin was asked what she liked best about softball, she answered, "I liked the team effort and playing softball the best." Coach Dillon enjoyed coaching because it gave him an opportunity to work with students and see them improve.

The frosh softball team did well. Coached by Larry Burney, they compiled a record of 10 wins and 5 losses.

Shannon Emblin said that she grew up with softball and stated that, "The team is one big family."
Linnea Hershey said she liked, "meeting new people and playing as a team."

Soccer Seizes State

Ooof! The opposing keeper hits the ground as a John Jost goal-bound shot whizzes by.

Suprisingly enough this was a familiar scene at a Huskie soccer game. After losing six key seniors from the previous season, the team seemed as if it was going to be lost. Then, two of the teams four year players, John Jost and Brian Gouziou stepped up and led the team in the right direction, up to the state championship!

"In the beginning the team wanted to make the play-offs; now we want to go all the way," Jeff Linder said of the team — their goal was about to come true.

They had to square off against Moon Valley, the team they had lost to twice in regular season. The battle was on and when the final whistle blew, the Huskies stood proud with the scoreboard reading 2-0. The state champions were the Huskies. It was a first in the history of the team.

Student Council Works for Students

None of us will ever forget parking in dirt, but thanks to student council it is just a memory. President of student council, Dan Twibell said,"Student Council's biggest accomplishment was convincing the Paradise Valley Governing Board to put in the new parking lot." To the students, the parking lot will always serve as a reminder of the work that student council did for us.

Fond memories were also made with Horizon's homecoming, Horizon Goes to Hollywood. This was another major accomplishment of student council. Sophomore Natalie Kerr felt all the effort put into homecoming was worth it. Homecoming was a success.

Many goals were reached because all of the members of student council worked together as one. How did they do that? They took a group of people from four different age groups, all from different backrounds and all with different ideas, but with one thing in common: a dedicaiton to making Horizon the best school it could be.

Class Officers Promote Spirit

Fun was not the only thing that came with being a class officer. The freshman class officers began the year by being introduced to the student government's program and beginning to plan for the oncoming year. The officers consisted of Wendy Bryant, president; Brian Vaughn, vice president; Kendra Moreno, secretary; and Julie Johnson, treasurer. One of their biggest goals this year was to raise money and also to make the freshman class a good one. When asked what the best part about being a class officer was, Vice President Brian Vaughn replied "meeting lots of new people and helping out our class."

Sophomore class officers included Dave Ashton, president; Dave Cooper, vice president; Karina Byerly, secretary; and Ann Donnely, treasurer. "Our main goal this year was to raise money for our junior prom next year," said President Dave Ashton. They did this by selling class sweatshirts and having other fund-raisers."We have a great class this year and I'm proud to be representing them," said Vice President Dave Cooper.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS
Krista Robinson, Kim Stakis, Greg Knotts, Karen Swenson, Shannon FitzSimons

Why be a class officer? There is much work involved with class officers, but lots of fun too. The junior and senior officers worked hard throughout the year to make Horizon the best that it could be.

The class of '88 was a full-spirited class. Heather Canen, President of the junior class was proud of her class and everyone who helped with the junior float. The floats theme was "Club Paradise" for both the junior and senior classes. The junior float came in second, with a score of 446-448.

Heather decided to become involved in the class of '88 at the end of her freshman year because she wanted to work with prom and her graduatingclass.

A major goal of the senior class was to have "the most awesome prom that Horizon will ever see," said Shannon FitzSimons, President of the senior class. Greg Knotts, treasurer of the senior class claimed that his major goal for the year was to have prom free of charge to students. In December of 1986 the senior class had $5,500 saved from fund raisers, and were hoping for $7,000 by the end of the year.

HOE: The Ladder to Success

Boring? No Way! HOE, Health Occupations Education, was one of the most popular class/clubs this year. HOE, headed by Sue Morrison, was a class taken by students who were interested in various types of work and education in the medical field. Most students took the class to prepare for college. Michelle Brown said it was, "the first step on the ladder of my medical career success," while Julie Skintjis said, "It's helping me decide if I want to be a medical professional, and if so, what field."

Students in HOE spent two days a week in class, and three clinical days where they worked at various locations, depending on what field they were interested in. Most of the students went to Humana Hospital Desert Valley, while others went to Tom Chauncey's Arabians to pursue their interest in veterinary medicine. During the two class days, students learned medical terminology, vital signs, blood pressure, temperatures, pulses, and respiration.

HOE wasn't all hard work though. To raise money for their banquet, students planned a Bowl-a-Thon in February, sold candy and held a Skills Olympics, demonstrating their skills with equipment.

Making an Impact On HERO

Working hard to become a HERO, home economics related occupation members concentrated on getting employed. Each student had to have a job to go to each day after school. Some people worked at Dillards, Mary Moppets, and Mervyns.

"Being in HERO we learn to be dependable, to work with customers, and to be patient—all these things can be transferred to other areas of life," stated senior Tracy Weber.

Impact, also known for FHA (Future Homemakers of America) is a club that concentrated on helping others. They raised money by having pizza sales, bake sales, Christmas grams and, of course, balloon grams which were often spotted around campus almost daily by someone who was having a birthday. The money raised by these fund raisers was used for service projects such as the Halloween party for children at Arrowhead park and the nursing home at Christmas.

"It's nice to be out helping other people because you know you are making them feel good and you're making yourself feel good too," said Jenny Gates.

Impact planned to attend a convention for FHA in the spring and help out in the March of Dimes.

Yearbooking It

Drawing, writing, talking, interviewing, and taking pictures all made up the yearbook class. Making a yearbook involved lots of time, planning, and organizing a massive amount of details. To be successful, ther had to be a staff ready to work and a core of students that were willing to spend a great amount of time.

The Heretage staff consisted of 21 people, with 5 potographers and typist Christy Valesh. Editor-in-chief, Bart Gray, and Assistant Editor, Alyssa Baker headed up the staff. "I like this class because it's different and it's a re-freshing change," said Alyssa. Bart and Alyssa had big responsibilities to attend to. They had to plan out the whole yearbook ahead of time with the advisor, Mr. Mattson. They corrected layouts and spreads that the staff turned in. They had to go over everyone's work and make sure it was in by the deadlines.

The photographers were a very important asset in Yearbook. They were responsible for taking, developing, and printing candids. They were also in charge of hand-tinting. Where actual paints are used on top of a photograph.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Intelligence was not the only thing students needed to join the National Honor Society. "NHS is a service orientated club which gives recognition to scholastic and personal achievers of Horizon High School." explained seniors Denise Douaire and Elaine Labedz.

This year NHS had a very large group of 67 members. This was very encouraging because the club hoped to become a, "more vital part of HHS," said Elaine Labedz.

The club planned to do an Easter egg hunt for the childrens hospital, special recognition during graduaiton, and the NHS induction.

The officers were, President Denise Douaire, Vice President Elaine Labedz, Secretary Patty Marby, and Treasurer Marty Ball.

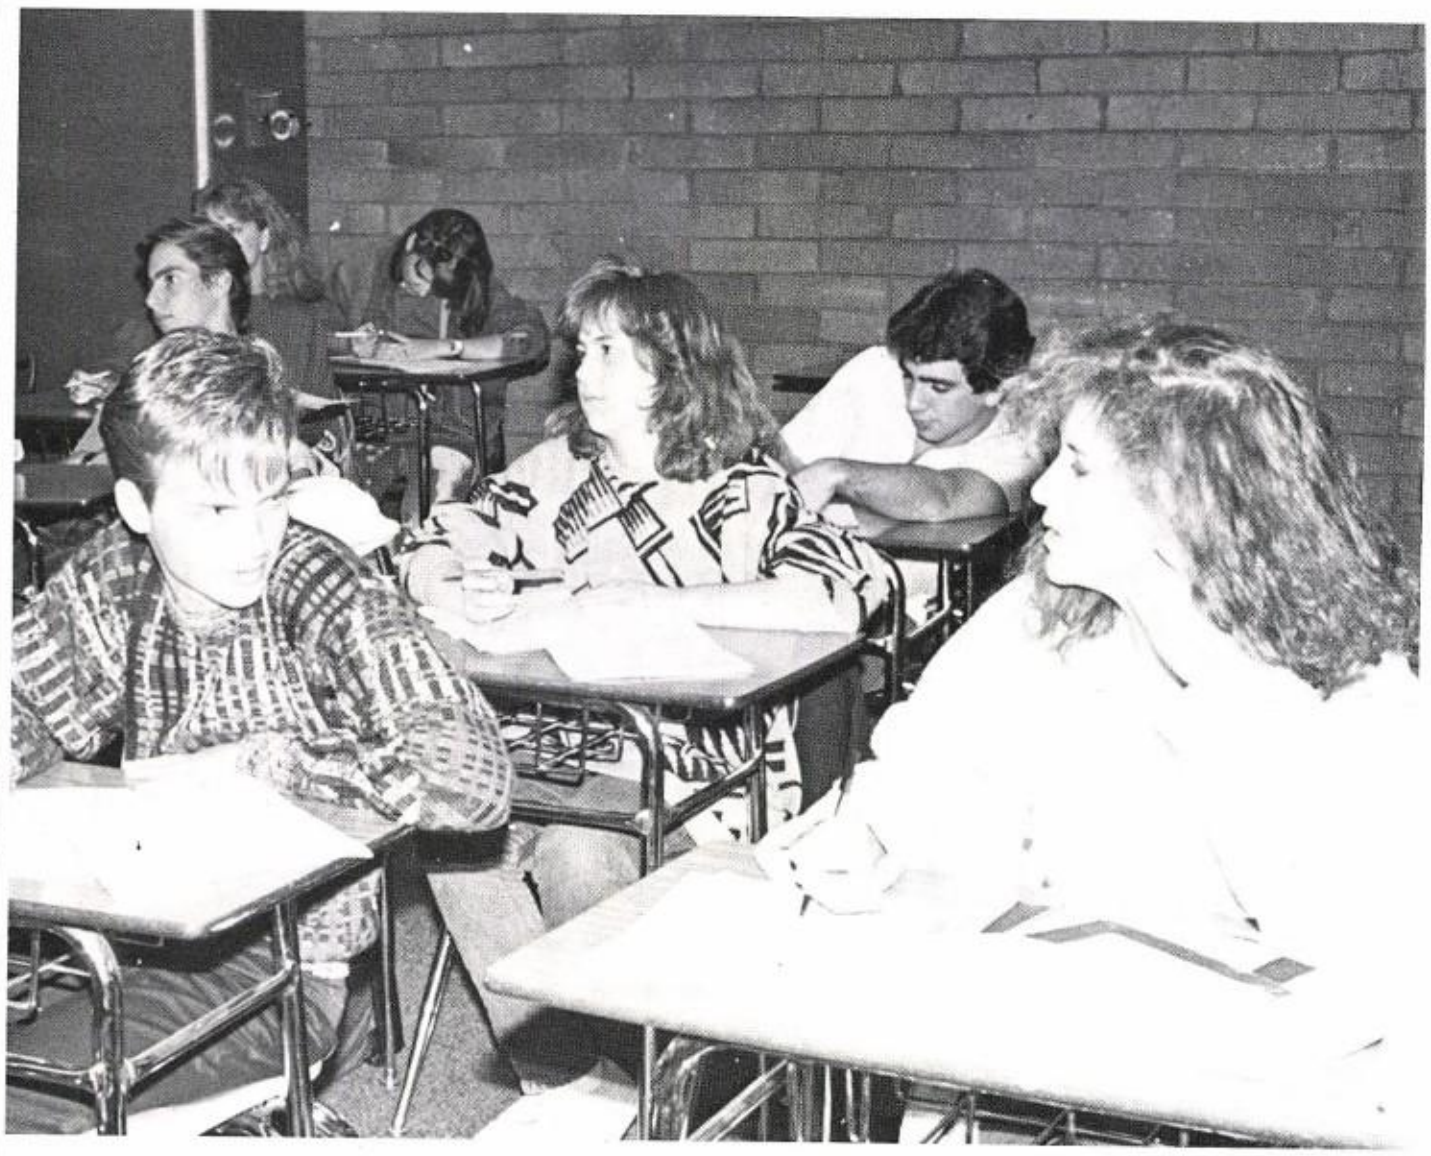
Academic Athletes Compete



English, Science, Etc. . . All of these subjects were important in the Academic Decathlon, a club whose members competed with their brains and not their brawn. The club consisted of ten people and ten subjects. Jon Thomas a two year participant, said he enjoyed the decathlon because, "it gives me a chance to compete acadmacially." Kim Loring enjoyed, "being with people and looking forward to competiting." This is a great club to compete academically instead of athletically.

Larangitus!?! The baseball player can borrow a mit; the schuller a boat; but a speaker without his voice is lost. Obviously, this was not one of the speech team's problems this year. The team, though handicapped by the graduation of several choice members, was as powerful as ever. Captain Patty Marby said, "the team is . . . awesome. I'm speechless." Although many people see speech as a club, to them, it's a team. The only thing missing is the work-out.

Speech is a combination of two speaking areas: Forensics and Interpretation. Chris Buskirk defines the first as"two types of debate (Lincoln/ Douglas and Policy), oratory, and extemporanious speaking." Kelly Harris feels the latter is "theatrical presentations of duo acting (two people acting out a scene from a play), serious and humorous prose, drama, and poetry.

Many of the team oriented accomplishments were due to its immense size. Vetrans such as Allison Bertelli, Vince Sorren, Beth Hussey, Courtney Hickok, and Robb Tovey anchored the team, adding poise and experience."The calibar improved tremendously due to our self driven motivaiton," commented Greg Knotts.

The newcomers, better known as the "wave of pups", made up the majority of the masses-."We've been swamped by our new but talented members. Our recruitment drive was a big succdess (no doubt)," Danny Angelucci expressed. "From the very beginning, we knew we were dealing with talent. Their performances later showed this," remarked Doug Wasbotten.

The team's chemistry was also largely due to its executive board. Its job was to run the team, help all members, fulfill their elected positions, and replace any board vacancies. One such opening occurred when the position of A.I.A. secretary suddenly needed to be filled. Rachael Hernandez's response to her election was "I was so moved when I was elected. I had finally been given a chance to leave my 'mark' on the Speech Team."

Over all, the team did well. They too have left their 'mark' at Horizon and in the state. At every tournament, they were known to raise the Jolly Roger. May it always fly high for them.

S.A.D.D. No Time For Tears

Driving drunk, it's an epidemic! It's one that kills! But there's a group fighting to save lives; the group is Students Against Driving Drunk.

S.A.D.D. is a fairly new group at Horizon started in 1985 by junior Tom Miller. Students Against Driving Drunk is an organization of students who work with their community and school to try and stop the problem of kids' driving drunk.

The group's activities varied from working with M.A.D.D. for a free night at the fair for all students who brought a signed contract for life, to a parents' night. At the parents' night, Dr. Gleason (who gave the opening address) challenged the group to bring Bob Anastas (founder of S.A.D.D.) to the school by offering to pay half of his fees. S.A.D.D. succeded in this challenge by bringing Mr. Anastas' assistant. Another major event of the year for the group was co-hosting a S.A.D.D. conference at ASU sponsored by M.A.D.D.

Through hard work and fun activities, Students Against Driving Drunk has been successful in getting the word out that driving while intoxicated is not only unsafe, but uncool!

What's This? Cassie Mulnix and Adrienne Fornier look for information vital to their meeting.

Drum Roll Please!

Introducing the 1986-87 Horizon High School marching band. The band was bigger than ever this year. Mr. Rudy, the band director, commented "In the four years I've been here this is the best sounding band Horizon's had." There are many responsibilities that come along with being on band, but the most important among the students is the Drum Major. Senior Rusty Evenson fills this position. He leads the band through all rehearsals, concerts and most importantly Band Day. This is when the band goes down to ASU for a day and competes against many other schools from Arizona. Rusty said, "We have great potential and hope for the best outcome this year."

A lot of dedication goes into being in band— eight to ten hour practices a week, and that doesn't include any extra or last minute practices."The accomplishments reached at a tournament or concert are what makes it worth being on band," said senior Gerry Mitzel. Gerry played the alto saxaphone, and has been a member for all four years. "I like band because everyone becomes really close and the influence of other members really helps as a whole."

For all their work, HAT'S OFF TO HORIZONS BAND!

Kaycee - Nice knowing you and having you in art class. What a blow-off! It was pretty boring, eh? Sorry for all of the cut downs and insults, but you're a teasable person and you smile about all of it. That doesn't mean you're not nice because you're one of the NICEST persons I've ever met. You really got to be one of the NICEST persons I've ever met. You really are great. I hope I'm in a class or two with you next year.

Enjoy your summer,

Doug Cooper

P.S. - maybe I'll see you on the slopes next year!

Hey cutie. 1st hour had been really fun. So happy were friends. Call me- 948-4012
Have a great Summer! ya - Alison

Kaycee,
You are the coolest, greatest, best looking, nicest, canest, outgoing, outrageous, competitive, well lets say your football was cool. It was cool having you in History, you've changed so much. Even though you don't think so, you have, well it's for the better oh well life goes on for you "rich" people.
Love
Kyle

Kaycee,
Hiya ham! Well this past semester has been fun in spanish class! I hope you have a great summer! By the way, how many guys is it now? Ok, Ok, Well! Have a great summer, keep in touch!

Kaycee - Hey Baby& my lunchtime salad pal& I want you to know your friendship means so much to me. I don't think I could have made it through this year. We have so much fun together and just think of all the fun times we will have over the summer. unD Because you live so far away! Probably! Anyways your a really wonderful friend one of my BEST friends. Don't ever forget that because I won't! I'll love you for life! I won't wish you a great summer because its guaranteed you know why? Because..... you'll be with me and we always have fun together?

Love-ya-lots Tiffany
